ANAL BOARD ASKS FOR CASH; GIVEN ADVICE

Wants to Get Business Men's O. K. on Plans.

Help of business men and civic leaders in support of the sanitary district's legislative program was sought last night at a dinner at the League club given by President Elmore and Trustees Riggs and Woodhull. Although some profers of assistance were made, Frank F. Wynn, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, added to the list of the trustees with the announcement that the legislative committee of the association had voted to support the district's financial program.

President Elmore explained the need of complying immediately with the government's demand regarding sewer disposal plans, and he declared the only way the trustees could proceed was in having the legislature grant permission to issue $17,000,000 bonds without a referendum. Several of those present mentioned the desire to which the sanitary district had been put by the previous administration, but they expressed a measure of confidence in Elmore and Woodhull.

Banker Suggests Committee.

John A. Carroll, president of the First National bank, said it is necessary that public confidence be secured before the present sanitary plan can make progress. He said a committee to believe the voting public would approve the issuance of the bonds needed for construction work. He suggested that a committee of citizens be appointed to cooperate with the district officials.

Mr. Wynn then said the question of recommending to the legislature the passage of the pending bill which would make money available for the district's construction program had been discussed and opposed by the association of Commerce. But he said he was authorized to appoint a committee to cooperate with the trustees to work out the district's salvation and he was in accord with the suggestion of Mr. Carroll.

Engineer Tells of Crisis.

Langdon Pearce, sanitary engineer for the district, said the work of eight years would go for naught if the district were not provided with the funds to complete $13,000,000 worth of work under way and near completion and $14,000,000 in other projects needed this year to satisfy the government.

Some lawyers took the position that the recent decision of the United States Supreme court was not the answer to the crisis. Mr. Pearce answered for the technical side and Attorney George F. Barrett on the legal aspect.

Ask for United Support.

They convinced the business men that a crisis is approaching and the trustees ended with assurances of the confidence that they would welcome the assistance of a citizens' committee. They were receiving support of other bodies, they stated, and they feel they have the united support of the business interests of Chicago if their legislation is to be passed.

The sanitary district's proposal won the approval of the board of directors of the Woman's City club during the day and President Elmore issued a statement that the trustees would cooperate in every way with the investigating committee to be appointed by the general assembly.

WHOOPEE QUIZ HALTED.

The investigation into the alleged "whoopee" parties of sanitary district employees was at a standstill yesterday while Assistant State's Attorney Thomas H. Shuster, Otto Fasig, George Callahan were busy preparing an answer to be filed today with Chief Justice John J. Sullivan. The answer by what authority they seized the records of the Central Auto Service company, 1462 North Clark street, in answer to the petition filed last week by Attorney Michael Ahern, that the records be returned and suppressed will be filed today and the hearing will be held tomorrow.

Meanwhile reports were circulated that a petition of a party held by trustees under a former regime on a street in Montreal, Canada, to divert a river diversion. This party was reported to have included a wild display of wine and women.

Speaker David Shanahan conferred yesterday with the legislative investigating committee. He assured the state's attorney that the committee, which was appointed this week, will not interfere with the investigation now being conducted by the grand jury.

KING GEORGE'S MEMORY FAILS, PAPER REVEALS

Seen as Reason for Naming Regent.

[Copyright, 1929, By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, March 11.—The British public is distressed and bewildered by the announcement this morning that the government is considering passage of a bill naming the Prince of Wales regent, owing to the fact that there is no hope that the king will be able to perform the duties arising out of the general election and the formation of a new government.

This has caused a crystallization of the feeling that something is being kept back about the king's condition, and recalls the careful phrasing of all bulletins by the doctors and the warning that although he is steadily improving he cannot yet be pronounced convalescent.

King's Memory Weak.

The Manchester Guardian lets the cat out of the bag this morning by stating that one of the disabilities the king is suffering as a result of his illness is a weakness of memory. Just what this may mean is not clear, but it does indicate a mental rather than a physical reason for the continued seclusion of the ruler.

The work to be done by the British ruler as a result of the general election is largely formal, but the real trouble is that the king must summon some one to form the new government after the new parliament is elected. If his mental condition precludes this, then the regency must do it. Once appointed, the regency may continue for an indefinite period. The existing council of state has not the power to carry out such duties, and it would be impossible to give it the power as it contains members of the existing ministry. Such duties can only be performed by the king or regent.

Consider Alternative Plans.

It was stated at 10 Downing street today that no decision has yet been reached, and the cabinet is considering several alternative plans. Constitutional lawyers, however, are understood to advise a regency as a solution, and no doubt the regent will be the prince of Wales.

The last regent in England was during the reign of King George III, when the king became insane and his son was appointed to rule in his name.

For the first time in four months the king was outdoors today. He was wheeled out in a bath chair this morning. He made the rounds of the grounds of Craigwell house, on the Sussex coast, care being taken to keep him in the sunshine. The king showed great interest, the change having a marked effect on his spirits.

DIES OF HUNGER WITH $7,000 IN 35 SAVING BANKS

Harry Kline, 61 years old, died of undernourishment last Saturday at the county hospital, owing rent to his landlady at 1231 Roosevelt road.

Investigators of the public administrator had about concluded that Kline was a pauper when they found thirty-five savings bank books in the bottom of his trunk showing a total of $7,000 deposits.

They visited the banks, scattered from Evanston to South Chicago, and learned that Kline made regular rounds to collect the interest—a total of $210 annually or 67 cents daily—on which he subsisted.

Today his widow, who has been working as a seamstress in Philadelphia, is expected here to claim his estate. Kline had deserted her and their five children fifteen years ago, but had left her address in the trunk with his bank books.

'War Angel,' Wed a Week, Widowed by Auto Crash

Santa Maria, Cal., March 11.—(AP)—Col. John R. McLean, mining engineer and world war veteran, who was married at Montecito, Cal., last week to Kathleen Burke Peabody, wealthy widow of Frederick F. Peabody, collar manufacturer, died in Santa Maria hospital this evening from a fractured skull suffered Sunday afternoon in an automobile collision.

His bride was known as the "Angel of France" for her work among the wounded during the world war.

THE GARDENER WHO KEEPS CHICKENS

Jinx Antidote Puts Jinx on Bridal Party

William Makleick took along his pal as his best man when he started out to get married yesterday. He hoped his pal would help ward off the jinx which he had heard beats the path of true love. William is 22 years old and he lives at 2740 North Spaulding avenue. The best man is Stanley Jorick, of 1324 Blackhawk avenue. The bride's first name is Irene and until her elopement yesterday she lived somewhere on Crystal street. In their exciting adventures the two young men failed to identify her more definitely.

In his eagerness to avoid a jinx Stanley also carried an antidote in a bottled form in the back seat of his auto when the three started for Crown Point. But the antidote appeared worse than the jinx, as this chronicle will show.

A Surprised Bridal Party.

Crown Point bears south and easterly from Chicago, and under ordinary conditions the road is not hard to follow, but yesterday was no ordinary day for Stanley and his little wedding party, especially after they took copious draughts of the antidote.

After driving for a couple of hours the three entered a town which they felt sure must be Crown Point. But on making inquiry they found that they were in Waukegan, on the opposite side of Chicago from their destination.

This indeed was misfortune. The bridal party was distressed but undaunted. They turned their machine and headed the way they had come, still determined to reach their marital goal in Crown Point. The day was wearing to a close and they must hurry.

PROWLER ROUTED FROM SWANSON'S HOME BY POLICE

A would-be burglar, apparently unaware that the home he was about to enter was that of State's Attorney John A. Swanson, 7217 Candon avenue, was driven away under police fire last night. He escaped after four shots had been fired at him by Detective William Marshall, who was on guard in the back yard. The robber is believed to have been wounded.

A Disaster for Cupid.

The prisoners were arraigned before Justice of the Peace Sidney Burridge. He fined Mikiecki $30 and Jorick $20. "Judge," Mikiecki pleaded, "I've only got $2 for a marriage license. I can't pay my fine. I want to get married."

Judge Burridge tempered justice with mercy. He permitted the bridegroom to go to Waukegan to purchase a license and promised to perform the ceremony. While Mikiecki was gone the bride and best man were kept in jail as security for his return.

In due course William was back with his license and the ceremony was performed. A wire to a friend in Chicago brought $30, sufficient to pay

SEARCH RUINS OF BOMBED TAILOR SHOP FOR VICTIMS

Miss Mary Meeker, 1100 Lake Shore drive, daughter of Arthur Meeker, former vice president of Armour & Co., was married yesterday in Washington, D. C., to Ambrose C. Cramer II., the divorced husband of her older sister, Grace Meeker Cramer.

The wedding was a private ceremony, without advance notice even to close friends. The news reached Chicago in a telegram from Mr. Meeker addressed to newspaper society editors and reading as follows:

"Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Meeker announce the marriage of their daughter, Mary, to Ambrose C. Cramer in Washington today."

Studies Architecture Abroad.

Mr. Cramer is a member of exclusive Chicago clubs and has been active socially here since his return from Paris two years ago after studying architecture abroad for five years. His residence is the Ambassador hotel, and he is the son of the late Ambrose C. Cramer, a banker and Lake Forest resident.

Washington first learned of yesterday's wedding through Chicago newspapers asking their correspondents for further details. The correspondents learned that the ceremony was performed at noon by the Rev. Dr. J. T. Marshall, pastor of the Georgetown Presbyterian church, in the presence of Mr. and Mrs. Meeker and James G. K. McClure Jr. of Lake Forest and Asheville. The application for the license gave the bride's age as 25 and Mr. Cramer's as 37.

Decorated in France.

After an extended honeymoon, Mr. Cramer entered military service and fought in France as a lieutenant being decorated with the French cross of the Legion of Honor. After the war he returned to Chicago and the couple were prominent in club and society life.

In 1922, Mr. Cramer went to Paris to study. His wife "commuted" between her parents' home in Chicago and her husband in France. Her last visit to her husband was in 1924. In 1927, she obtained a divorce on a charge of desertion. With her two children, Ambrose and Neville, now 11 and 4 years old, Mrs. Cramer moved to Santa Barbara, Cal.

Hope to Get Eminent Scholar.

In making known their gift, Mr. Wilson and his sister stated: "It is our thought in establishing this foundation to provide the university with a sufficient fund so that the income therefrom will at all times be adequate to the maintenance of a professorship of law, the holder of the chair to be known as 'The John P. Wilson, Professor of Law.'"

Sees Gift as Boon to Law.

"Legal education," said Mr. Woodward, "has not attracted the financial support which it deserves, and I hope that the intelligent generosity of Mr. Wilson and Mrs. Dickinson will draw attention to the vital importance of high grade law schools as instruments for permanently improving the administration of justice."

"After all, it is to law school graduates that the community looks, in large measure, for leadership in the solution of the grave social and political problems which are perplexing us today."

FIREMEN RESCUE FAMILY TRAPPED IN BURNING HOME

Six persons, one an invalid, were rescued by firemen from their burning home early this morning after the stairway leading to their second floor apartments in a two story frame building had been burned away and left them trapped. It was shortly after 3 o'clock that Nicholas Fraglo, 619 West 25th place, was awakened by smoke and found his home in flames. He aroused his two daughters, Anna, 18, and Grace, 15, and his son, Nicholas Jr., 12.

They rushed for the stairway, the only means of exit, but found it had been burned away. When firemen arrived, all the family, except Mrs. Fraglo, were in windows in the front and about to jump. Mrs. Fraglo was ill in bed in another room. Capt. James Shanahan of Engine company No. 2 plunged into the smoke filled room, seized the woman and carried her down a ladder to safety. The others were helped down ladders.

Agullo's Last Troops Surrender.

Agulleros and peasants in the states of Michoacan, Jalisco, Guanajuato, and Mexico have already enlisted several thousand men as state troops to garrison various towns and carry the war to the rebels in the mountains. In the state of Vera Cruz, Gov. Tejeda has enlisted more than 5,000 peasants.

A government bulletin announces that the remainder of Gen. Jesus M. Aguirre's faithful troops, who fled with him from Vera Cruz, surrendered unconditionally today at Asuta station in the state of Vera Cruz, after negotiations between Gen. Miguel M. Acosta and the rebel general, Juan L. Cardona. Among the surrendered troops was a battalion of Yaqui. All the surrendered rebels were concentrated and disarmed at Juanita station on the Vera Cruz-Isthmus railway. Gen. Cardona and other officers were ordered to appear before Gen. Acosta at Asuta.

Decisive Battle of Revolt Near.

BULLETIN.

NEUVO LAREDO, Mex., March 11.—(U. P.)—First skirmishes in what apparently is the prelude to the bigger battle around Torreón that will determine control of northern Mexico were fought today at Paredon, an important railroad junction north of Saltillo. Fighting started shortly after noon between an advance guard of Gen. Juan Andrew Almazan's federals and the rear guard of the rebel army of Gen. Gonzalo Escobar. So far as could be learned neither side suffered any considerable losses.

BULLETIN.

NEUVO LAREDO, Mex., March 11.—(U. P.)—Reports received here today said Gen. Pedro Gabay, in the state of Hidalgo, had deserted to the rebels. Dynamiting of a railroad bridge by rebels at Ojocaliente, between Monterrey and Saltillo, also was reported.

MEXICO CITY, March 11.—Three armies are advancing tonight on the rebel headquarters at Torreón. Heavy reinforcements were sent to Gen. Juan Almazan at Monterrey, with instructions to push forward with more speed than the last.

Gen. Saturnino Cedillo was ordered to advance with increased forces of infantry and cavalry from San Luis Potosi northwest toward Saltillo.

Calles Heads Biggest Army.

Gen. Plutarco Elias Calles, former president and acting secretary of war, at the head of the greatest military force ever assembled by Mexico, is pushing forward from the south. His army, based on Canillas, in the state of Zacatecas, is spread over a seventy-five mile front.

The vanguard of Gen. Calles' forces today captured 120 men from the command of the rebel Gen. Francisco Urbalejo, who was forced to flee from Canillas yesterday following the mutiny of most of his troops. Gen. Urbalejo and about 100 followers have not yet been located.

Believe Masatlan Drive Stopped.

It was reported here that Gen. Roberto Cruz, who is occupying Cuilaen, the capital of the state of Sinaloa with 5,000 troops, was preparing to retreat to Sonora because of danger of the disintegration of his forces. The story was not confirmed.

The backing which the Portes Gil government is obtaining from the United States and the report that the Volight Aircraft corporation in New York was working overtop to supply fighting, reconnoitering and bombing planes to the Mexican government, created a feeling of confidence here in the government's ability to quickly end the revolution. Those here who sided openly with the revolution on the streets during the first two days of the outbreak have taken to cover.

Agulleros and peasants in the states of Michoacan, Jalisco, Guanajuato, and Mexico have already enlisted several thousand men as state troops to garrison various towns and carry the war to the rebels in the mountains. In the state of Vera Cruz, Gov. Tejeda has enlisted more than 5,000 peasants.

A short time later Gen. Simon Aguirre, brother of Gen. Jesus M. Aguirre, the leader of the Vera Cruz revolt, was captured today near Huleon, Isthmus of Tehuantepec. He will be tried by summary court martial and will face a firing squad.

Five Killed Near Jalapa.

MEXICO CITY, March 11.—Word of a battle in which two rebel officers and three soldiers were killed at Teocelo, near Jalapa, state of Vera Cruz, last Wednesday reached President Portes Gil only tonight.

Jose Morales Ochoa, an agrarian leader, reported he was imprisoned for three days at Jalapa because he refused to join the rebel cause. He escaped and gathered a small force with which he proceeded to Teocelo. After a three hour battle he routed a rebel detachment. The slain officers were Gen. Uriel Martinez and Col. Fabian Trachil.

Oregonistas Back Government.

A manifesto condemning the present revolution was issued tonight by the Oregonistas bloc of the chamber of deputies, which was considered significant here in view of the fact that some former followers of the late Alvaro Obregon are leading the revolution in Sonora.

The manifesto was signed by all officers of the bloc and was addressed to all social classes of the republic. It called upon every one for effective collaboration with and support of the government in the existing crisis and declared that Mexico never had known a military coup or attempted revolution so destitute of ideals as the present one. "What slogan, or even what subterfuge, can the authors of this belittling movement invoke in explanation of their attitude?" the manifesto asked.

The legitimacy of the government of President Portes Gil was declared to be free from the slightest blemish and to have been recognized by the entire country, including the army, and by all foreign nations.

Western Rebels Head for Torreon.

Nogales, Ariz., March 11.—Confident of capturing the seaport of Mazatlan in their steady advance down the west coast, Mexican rebel leaders today diverted 2,000 troops to the interior for the impending battle on the Torreon-Durango front.

The contingent withdrawn from the western campaign was made up of Mayo and Yaqui Indian warriors. This force was brought out of southern Sonora on freight trains and today passed through Lomas, a few miles south of here, en route to Naco, Sonora. Rebel chiefs said the Indians would be carried by motor truck from Naco to a point on the rail line in Chihuahua, where they would board troop trains for Torreon.

Gen. Francisco Manzo, second in command of the rebel armies, reported that 5,000 of his men remained for the attack on Mazatlan, which is held by Gen. Jaime Carrillo, federal commander. Advances reaching here said in preparation for the siege Gen. Carrillo had seized all food supplies in Mazatlan and ordered short rations of foodstuffs and water for the inhabitants.

Denies Lower California Revolt.

Gen. Enrique Estrada, field commander in the De la Huerta revolt several years ago, conferred with rebel leaders at their headquarters in Nogales, Sonora, across the border. His former chief, Adolfo de la Huerta, one time provisional president of the republic, remained in Los Angeles, having announced he will take no active part in the revolt for the present.

Rebel claims that 1,200 troops from the southern district of Lower California had joined the revolution, and had been moved by boat across the gulf of California to Guaymas, Sonora, were disputed today by Gov. Abelardo Rodriguez, military commander of the northern district of the state.

Gov. Rodriguez, who has remained loyal to the government, asserted that the defection was of no military significance. The total rebel forces in the southern district did not exceed 75 men, he declared.

Suburgents Recruit Troops.

JUAREZ, Chihuahua, March 11.—Organized movements were under-

1. Torreon, where Mexican rebels are reported concentrated. A battle at Paredon, east of Torreon, is reported.
2. Federal advance on Torreon from three sides. Gen. Calles is leading the largest force from the south, with his headquarters at Canitas. Another army is marching northwest from San Luis Potosi, and Gen. Almagon is pushing westward from Monterrey.
3. Last of Gen. Jesus M. Aguirre's defeated rebel troops in state of Vera Cruz surrender.
4. Rebel troops, now at Culiacan, menace Mazatlan, which is held by a small federal force.
5. Troops in southern end of Lower California reported to have joined insurgents.
6. Rebel forces along U. S. border move troops toward Torreon. Troops were sent from Nogales, Sonora, and Juarez, Chihuahua, yesterday.

way in the northern states today to reinforce the rebel forces which will be pitted against the powerful army headed by Gen. P. Elias Calles, federal commander-in-chief, somewhere near Torreon.

In a half dozen cities citizens' militias were being formed and the rebels claimed 300 men enlisted in Juarez within a few hours. Rebel leaders planned to increase the size of the citizens' militia in Juarez to 500 before the command is sent south.

Citizens' headed the calls in the towns of Saragosa, San Ladrado, San Ignacio, and Guadalupe, rebel leaders reported, declaring that the Juarez force would be augmented by several hundred from these places.

Says Federalists Won't Fight.

Capt. Pedro Alva of the rebel forces arrived today from Chihuahua City, capital of Chihuahua, and reported the insurgents were meeting practically no opposition from the federal forces.

"They are not putting up any more of a battle than they did at Juarez," he said. "In fact, they are fleeing and offering very little or no resistance. We have information that the federal forces are doing the same thing in other sections of Mexico."

Consuls in Mazatlan Organize.

Mazatlan, Sinaloa, Mex., March 11.—[U. P.]—Foreign consuls in Mazatlan were organized today to protect the interests of their countries in case this city is captured by the rebel forces advancing down the west coast. Under the leadership of William P. Blocker, United States consul, as dean, three committees were formed. The consuls also conferred with Gen. Jaime Carrillo, commander of the small federal force defending the city, with a view to cooperate towards conserving the food supply.

Rebels Take Ojinaga.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.] Presidio, Tex., March 11.—Without a shot being fired, the town of Ojinaga, on the Rio Grande, opposite Presidio, passed into the hands of a small group of revolutionists today. The garrison of loyal troops moved southward toward Chihuahua and the Mexican customs officers and their

and that ending the revolution is now but a matter of time. Should reports from Ambassador Morrow at Mexico City continue optimistic it is possible that the total munitions shipments anticipated by Mexico may be somewhat curtailed.

Ammunition set aside for shipment to Mexico was manufactured several years ago, but is described by Secretary of War James W. Good as suitable for use in war. Because the cartridges are not the newest in the possession of the government, the price has been reduced somewhat.

May Return Interred Federalists.

Secretary Kellogg has received no advice from Mexico regarding disposition of the federal troops detained at Fort Bliss following their transfer to American soil after the rebel victory at Juarez last week. Officials here said Brig. Gen. George Van Horn Moseley, the commanding officer who arranged the truce under which the federalists were allowed to enter the United States, had made no promise to the rebels which would interfere with the return of the 300 federal soldiers to Mexico at once.

The rebels will not be recognized as belligerents, Secretary Kellogg said. Were they recognized as belligerents this government might run into difficulty in freeing the federalists.

Ambassador Morrow's prestige in Mexico is certain to rise if the revolution is crushed, as Washington officials accepted his recommendations to support the federalists with munitions.

SWANSON ASKS AID OF VICTIMS TO STOP RACKETEERS

State's Attorney John A. Swanson announced yesterday that if the victims would cooperate with him, he would stop racketeers preying on small business men on the pretense that they represent so-called police and judicial organizations. The latest complaint is one in which the prosecutor's photograph is shown on the inside cover of a booklet, which goes with every membership at $35.

"Unless the victims will communicate with me and give me their names and addresses I am powerless to act," said the prosecutor yesterday. "I have received many complaints, but they come anonymously in the mails and over the telephone. I will guarantee the suppression of the names of those making the complaints."

The organizations in question give the victim either directly or indirectly the impression that they represent a group of police or judges and that in return for a membership they receive parking privileges or immunity from arrest.

Injuries Four Months Ago in Football Game Kill Boy

A bone infection resulting from injuries in a football game last November caused the death yesterday of August Spera, 16 years old, 5215 Warwick avenue, at the Belmont hospital. Spera has been a patient at the hospital ever since he was injured.

Revolt Makers in Mexico Meet New Foe—It's Education

BY JOHN CORNYN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
MEXICO CITY, March 11.—Once more the political situation in Mexico has changed here over night and another vivid color is being woven into the kaleidoscope vista of revolutions.

Gen. Francisco Urbalejo's defeat yesterday at Canitas, stationed there to protect Durango and to form the advance guard of Gen. Gonzalo Escobar's rebel forces at Torreon, introduced a social and political factor into the struggle that was practically unknown in previous revolutions in Mexico.

The mutiny of Gen. Urbalejo's troops was due largely to the complete change in army organization since 1920. Before 1920 all Mexican armies were loosely organized, underfed, and underpaid. The present army is subject to strict discipline, well fed, well paid, and has become accustomed to military life. Soldiers who were formerly barefooted and practically without uniforms when on war duty were soldiers only so long as it suited them. Desertions from the ranks were frequent and generally remained unpunished except in the case of officers.

Troops Taught to Read.

In the present army, long enlistment is the rule and desertion is infrequent. Yaqui, Mayo, Zapotec and Mixtec Indians have taken a liking to military life and make excellent soldiers. They are fearless and take naturally to discipline.

Most of the soldiers in barracks from time to time have been taught to read and write and are becoming more or less familiar with the questions of the day. Newspapers circulate freely in the barracks. The influence of the commander of forces has ceased to be unlimited over the men, as it was only a decade ago.

In the downfall of Gen. Urbalejo

Planes Keep Troops Informed.

In past Mexican revolutions the element of surprise counted tremendously, but today it is negligible once the revolt has broken out. Revolutionary generals are unable to keep their troops in ignorance of military happenings as formerly.

Government planes watch every enemy move and drop circulars on the rebel ranks, informing them of defeats of the revolting forces and denouncing the perfidy of revolting generals. The propaganda leaflets call on the soldiers to defend their country against ambitious traitors interested only in advancing their personal interests.

Guerrilla bands from the mountains have counted heavily in past revolutions in Mexico, but these need time to organize and mass at a given point. The Serrano-Gomez revolt was over and the leaders trapped and shot before the clans had time to gather. The motor car for transportation, the airplane for observing, and the radio for rapid transmission of intelligence rendered Gomez helpless from the start. These factors are of even more vast importance in the present revolt and have immensely increased the elements working against the success of the revolution.

Woman Fails Four Times in Attempts to End Life

After four attempts to take her own life since Friday night, Mrs. Joan McDonald, 28 years old, 822 Gary place, was reported improving last night in the Thomas B. Murphy hospital. Domestic difficulties may have been responsible for the suicide attempts, her husband, James McDonald, a clerk, said. Following a disagreement between Mrs. McDonald and her husband Friday night, she swallowed a sleeping potion, and when that failed, she tried another dose. A third attempt with gas failed when an inhalator squad revived her. Yesterday she swallowed iodine and was taken to the hospital.

The McDonalds have been married two years. Twice before in the last three years, Mrs. McDonald attempted suicide, it was stated at the hospital.

Husband Sues Radio Love Lecturer for $50,000 Balm

Charles Halliday of New Brunswick, N. J., yesterday filed in Superior court the praecipe of a $50,000 suit charging alienation of affections against Jovendah de Rajah, a radio lecturer, who asserts he was born in Tibet, the son of royal parents. Halliday charges that De Rajah won his wife, Mrs. Wilhelmina Halliday, from her home by his lectures on the philosophy of love. Last January Mrs. Halliday, who lives at 4115 Berkeley avenue, filed a $25,000 breach of promise suit against De Rajah, alleging that he refused to marry her after making love to her, and that he is the father of her child.

MEXICAN REVOLT WILL COLLAPSE, MAZAN SAYS

Wonders Why Old Friend
Escobar Rebelled.

BY ORVILLE DWYER.

CHICAGO, March 11.—(Special.)—The ten day "love test" between George Gillette, movie cowboy, and his heiress bride, Katherine Thorne Gillette of Chicago, terminated today with "different arrangements" which, according to Gillette, caused a cancellation of plans under which Mrs. Gillette was to join him here.

The cowboy film actor had a luxurious apartment for two fitted up in Hollywood, but left it this evening without leaving any announcement of his plans. Later he returned without his bride.

According to program, Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Thorne of Chicago were to have accompanied their daughter here and bestowed a parental blessing on the love match between the "singing cowboy" of Castle Rock, Ariz., and the heiress of a fortune in her own name.

Now All Is Mystery.

Gillette was to have left for Phoenix, Ariz., Saturday and to have returned to Hollywood with his wife and parents-in-law. Gillette tonight stated that he had not gone to Arizona, but had stayed here to welcome his bride and his wife.

"They have not come here," he said, "because the plan was changed. I will be at liberty to say something after Tuesday."

Gillette denied that there had been a break between the Thornes and him.

Friends of Gillette intimated that the young man had been urged by Mr. Thorne to go east with the Thorne family. Gillette, however, is under contract to play a small part in a motion picture called "The Wagon Master" which has been started here. The picture is a wild west story and "Singing George" plays the part of a brave hearted galloper over hill and dale whose activities help to balk the villains.

Dennis Reported Meeting.

One local newspaper this evening printed an account of a supposed meeting between Gillette and the Thornes here this afternoon, but Gillette said that he had not seen the Thornes, although he expected "everything to turn out very happily."

'L' FARE HEARING, ON 8 MONTHS, MAY PASS ALL RECORDS

3d Witness on Stand in Injunction Case.

The injunction hearing now in progress to determine whether the Chicago Rapid Transit company was justified in raising elevated fares to 10 cents straight, by eliminating the three for a quarter rides and the 12.5 cents weekly passes, has been in progress eight months and observers said yesterday that the case may establish a new record for length in Chicago court proceedings.

On July 1, 1928, the United States District court here granted the elevated lines a temporary injunction which restrains the Illinois commerce commission from interfering with the fare increase.

Third Witness on Stand.

Rosewell B. Mason, a master in chancery of the Circuit court, was appointed by the federal court as a special master to take the evidence in the case. The present hearings were begun on July 7, 1928. Approximately thirty sessions before the master have been occupied in taking the testimony of only two of the complainant company's witnesses. The third witness, Charles E. Thompson, a vice president of the elevated, has been on the stand since Jan. 1.

Valuation Evidence to Come.

With an important part of the elevated's testimony yet to come, the testimony to the valuation of the lines, taining to the valuation of the lines, today as to how long it will be before the master's inquiry is completed and the full data in the case is placed before the court.

TRY TO LINK MAN HELD IN WINDSOR TO GANG MURDER

Efforts to identify Harry Granfield, held in Windsor, Ont., as a suspect in the Moran gang massacre of Feb. 14 were continued yesterday by Chicago police. Deputy Commissioner John Stege telegraphed to Windsor police to hold Granfield and forward his finger prints and Bertillon measurements here in the hope that a check-up would connect him with the North Clark street murders.

Granfield was arrested when two agents of the United States treasury department overheard him discussing plans for taking some one "for a ride." He admitted that he had been in Chicago at the time of the gang massacre and that he had occupied a room near the garage where the men were slain. He is said to have one deformed finger. Witnesses have told Chicago police that the driver of the death car had one finger missing.

Police Lieutenant John Treacy, on receipt of an anonymous tip that the occupant of room 523 in the McCormick hotel was a likely suspect in the Moran gang massacre, went there with a squad and arrested James C. Burns, 34 years old, who had a pistol under his pillow. Locked up at the detective bureau, Burns attributed the tip to an underworld character he claimed he had shot three years ago while serving as a prohibition agent. Burns said he was no longer in government service.

FAMILY BURDENS DO HEAVY, BOY, ENDS HIS LIFE

Shoots Self After Chum Breaks Promise.

Paul was only 14 years old and a beginner in high school, but life had heavily heaped burdens on the young son of Paul Bartsch. Last night Paul's broken promise added one more to his list of troubles. So he took his brief career as the mainstay of his family by suicide.

Three months ago, Paul's father went away from home and did not return. Paul's mother was three years younger than him, and so Paul found an after-school job delivering prescriptions for a drug store around the corner.

His mother rented two upstairs rooms in the cottage at 713 Diversey avenue and, with Paul's help, made the most of them.

Gives Up Scouting.
Paul could no longer attend meetings of the Flying Eagle Scout troop. Paul's church at Fullerton avenue and Orchard street.

Within the week Paul registered at the Technical High school. His mother, George, 11 years old, and Robert, 3 years old, and his sister, Helen, 5 years old, went without deserts and so that Paul could buy his school supplies.

He Ends It All.
His instructors found Paul a bright boy who complained about his careless work and drowsiness in class. He determined to catch up on school work and asked George to take him to the store after supper.

George Nelson agreed. Paul was preparing to study his home work when he noticed him that he couldn't Paul Bartsch, 14 years old, the support of two younger brothers and a sister, who shot himself in his home at 713 Diversey parkway.

All Paul's place.
"Never mind, son," his mother said, striking his hair. "I'll have a nice dessert for you tonight and get you a clean shirt to wear to work. You're a man now and you mustn't cry."

Paul stole into the pantry and took down his father's pistol from the top shelf. A moment later his brothers and sister, playing in the front room, heard a report and smelled powder. The mother picked the boy up in her arms and carried him to the Chicago General hospital, four doors away, but he was dead of a bullet wound in his temple.

KILLS HIMSELF

CITY UNABLE TO PAY JUDGMENTS; OFFICIALS CITED

Debt Has Mounted Past
$3,000,000 Mark.

Mayor Thompson, the city controller, city treasurer, and members of the city council were cited yesterday by Circuit Judge Michael Feinberg to appear and show cause why they should not be held for contempt of court because of their failure to pay a $42,000 street widening judgment.

The court order was issued upon the plea of Attorney Irving Flamm, 105 West Adams street, owner of property on Ashland avenue, which is being widened between Lake street and Irving Park boulevard. Three weeks ago Mr. Flamm obtained a writ of mandamus ordering the city to pay him the $42,000, representing the damages to his property caused by the widening project.

Wants Officials Cited.
Appearing before Judge Feinberg yesterday, Flamm complained that the city has taken no action to pay the judgment and asked that the officials be cited for contempt of court. Judge Feinberg ruled that they must appear in court on March 18 to show cause why they should not be cited.

Meanwhile, Gotthard A. Dahlberg, representing the board of local improvements, was said to be ready to apply for a writ of supersedeas to carry the case to the Supreme court on behalf of the city.

Several other suits similar to that of Attorney Flamm have been started in the courts because of the city's inability to pay street widening judgments. Due to the defeat of all bond issues at the 1928 elections, the funds to pay such judgments are virtually exhausted.

Although the city officials were of the opinion that the Flamm case will go to the Supreme court, relieving them of any immediate embarrassment, the court decree served to emphasize the city's judgment situation, which has steadily grown worse during the last eight years. The total amount of judgments now outstanding against the city is $3,313,377. Against this sum only $600,000 has been appropriated by the city council for 1929.

Judgment Total Mounts.
During the last eight years the judgments against the city have piled up as follows:

1921$ 740,821	1925$2,973,436
19221,141,207	19262,190,000
19231,423,181	19272,355,000
19241,492,617	19283,313,377

So far behind has the city fallen in the payment of its judgments that fully fifty per cent of the original holders have sold them to collection agencies at discounts averaging ten per cent in order to obtain their money.

A report made by City Controller George K. Schmidt yesterday showed that several investment brokerage concerns have built up a thriving business in judgments, buying them at a ten per cent discount and collecting five per cent interest while holding them. The largest investors and the amounts held by each, according to Mr. Schmidt's report, are: Maurice L. Rothschild, $446,024; Melville N. Rothschild, $241,182; A. S. Trude, $63,420; and M. J. Bransfield & Co., $72,650.

Some 15 Years Old.
A few of the judgments, according to Mr. Schmidt's records, are ten to fifteen years old and most of them were rendered three or four years ago.

As the judgment total has piled up year after year, the interest cost, paid by the taxpayers, has also mounted rapidly. This year it will be in the neighborhood of $165,000, or approximately twenty-seven per cent of the amount appropriated by the council to pay off the principal.

What will occur if Attorney Flamm is upheld by the Supreme court is problematical, but city officials have recognized that the question is a serious one. With its bond funds exhausted, the city apparently would have one of two alternatives: to secure the passage of more bond issues or to pay the judgments out of the corporate fund. Either of these, it is agreed, would be a virtual impossibility under present conditions.

60 Ton Vault Door Reaches Loop, but Not Via Bridges

A sixty-ton vault door, which was considered too heavy to transport into the loop over street traffic bridges, was delivered yesterday to the Foreman National Bank building, nearing completion at La Salle and Washington streets. The freight car bearing the load was brought into a south side freight yard after Commissioner of Public Works Richard W. Wolfe had refused a permit to the contractors to move the vault door over any city bridges.

CO-ED MAY SAVE THE DAY IN N. U. PARKING DISPUTE

Cues against 67 Northwestern university students, charged with illegally parking their automobiles on Sheridan road, near the campus, were continued until this afternoon, when Miss Elizabeth Kelsey, 19 year old co-ed, who lives at the Orrington hotel, Evanston, yesterday persuaded the judge to survey the scene of the dispute himself.

Justice of the Peace W. L. Brightmyre left his courtroom to ride in Miss Kelsey's collegiate roadster to Sheridan road. There the defendants pointed out that there is no curb line, clearly defining the boulevard, and there are no "no parking" signs.

The judge agreed that justice should be tempered with mercy. He announced that he would consult the mayor and the chief of police before handing out fines. Sixty-seven students are hoping that the ride in the flivver left the court in a forgiving state of mind.

Shell Shocked Veteran Found Dead; Gas Jets Open

Louis Berk, a telegraph messenger, rang the front door bell at 5149 South Morgan street early this morning and got no response, so he went to the rear, where he perceived a light in the kitchen window and a strong odor of gas about the door. Stockyards police forced an entrance and found the body of Emil Langille, 54 year old carpenter and shell shocked world war veteran, to whom the telegram was addressed. He had apparently opened the gas jets to commit suicide.

Artist Acting as His Own Lawyer Is Fined by Judge

Fred W. Theis, 1632 Lafayette avenue, a commercial artist acting as his own attorney in the divorce suit brought by his wife, Mrs. Helen Theis, was fined $50 for contempt of court by Superior Judge Walter P. Steffen yesterday. After Judge Steffen ordered him committed to the county jail for being in arrears on alimony, Theis turned to his wife and said, "I'll get you for this." He was fined for the remark.

GAMBLING SPREE LEAVES MIAMI WITH HEADACHE

Coarse Work Is Shock to Business Men.

BY WESTBROOK PEGG.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Miami, Fla., March 11.—[Special.]—It is their worry and not mine, but it seems to me that the solid citizens of Miami and Miami Beach lost control of the good time industry this winter. The season is petering out now, but if it had still three months to run, the so-called big men of the community probably would be ready to yell for prohibition agents and a grand jury to quiet things down, control the graft and shoo the muscle men of Chicago and New York out of town.

After all, the business fellows like to have their community thought of elsewhere as a respectable place, offering convenient opportunities to drink and gamble, of course, but not to the complete neglect of the other attractions.

The way of the gambling was this: During the boom a horse track was built on the outskirts of town and pari mutuel betting was conducted under some legal quibble. After the courts had stalled as long as they could, enabling the merchants and hotel people to work out on the crowds which came down for the races, the judges finally decided that betting on the horses was illegal after all and would have to be stopped.

Easy Money Stops.

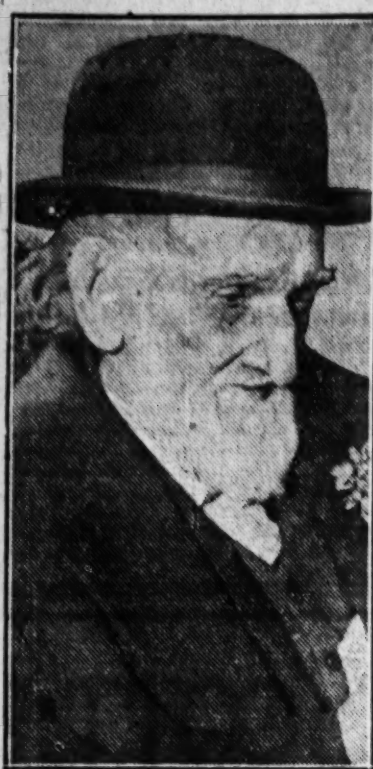

This decision came along toward the end of the boom and the next winter was a ghastly experience for the business men, especially for the hotel mortgage holders. Some of the hotels weren't opened at all. In some of the others the bell boys would go around on regular beats at sundown, turning on the lights in vacant rooms so that the world would think, "My hat, what a swell business exclusive Royal Hibiscus Terrace Arms Mansions is doing this season!"

The season was a little the worse because the stock market gamblers, including the little kibitzers who hop in and hop out until they have picked up a couple of thousand dollars, hadn't yet begun to take their profits. But this season was the psychological season. Tex Rickard foresaw it last year. There was a white stucco house for sale, furnished, for $12,000 cash last year, and Tex told me I ought to buy it for a profit, because he felt sure that by the fall of the year the stock market winners would be looking for ways to waste their money, and would double my money for me.

Predicted Racing Would Return.

Tex said the horses would be back for this season, although at that time, to the naked eye, there didn't seem a chance in the world. There were some gambling rooms running in night clubs and hotels, but the thing was being done with the same tactful discretion that you would find in the environs of New York City. I mean, it wasn't a place where any tacky looking racketeer with a pair of crap dice,

DIES AT 102

JOHN E. GOODRICH.

John E. Goodrich, centenarian, who until the mayoralty election in 1927 voted the straight Republican ticket since the party was first organized, died at his home, 1436 East 66th place, yesterday. He was in his 103rd year. He is survived by three daughters, a son, nine grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. Funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the residence. The body will be shipped to Lisbon, Ia., for burial.

Mr. Goodrich was born in New York state, one of a family of eleven children. Going to Iowa after the civil war, Mr. Goodrich settled in Des Moines and grew up with the city. He came to Chicago seven years ago. In the 1927 elections Mr. Goodrich changed his usual custom of voting the straight Republican ticket and cast his ballot for Mayor William Weaver, the Democratic candidate.

a mothball, a table and a wheel could rent the back room of a sandwich joint and start doing business. During the summer the big men, as they might as well be called for lack of a more convenient term, decided that they would simply have to have a season of horse racing for this winter. Well, the Miami region had done very well by Doyle Carlton, the dry governor, in his campaign, so along toward fall the owners of racing strings everywhere received letters assuring them that, regardless of anything they might hear to the contrary, it would be all right to send down some of their steeds for the Hibiscus meet.

Church Element Resents.

There was another element of business men and politicians who might be described as the "No, by Gods," They were either churchgoers in a serious way or the kind who nod yes to the preachers on all matters in return for the church going vote. They warned the horse people to save car hire and feed bills by keeping their horses home.

To offset this the big men frankly put big business behind the race track promotion, being desperate at the thought of thousands of people, with loose stock market money, sailing by on the Havana boats. Liquor, wine and beer were essential, and Miami had them, but a race meeting would draw a very large, definite element of fluent spenders who required drinks but demanded races, too. So it was arranged to run the betting under the New York oral system, whereby bets are booked openly, but the money is passed in envelopes. The sheriff, being a servant of the public, was advised not to make a nuisance of himself, as this work was in the public interest, and the Hibiscus track had a fair season, although the bother of wagering under the oral system detracted something from the success.

Tex Buys In.

In the meanwhile Tex saw great opportunities. There was a gambler on the beach with a good practical command of the gambling business, but with little money. He owned a busy but second rate gambling house and was in financing a dog track on the beach. He also owned the ruin of a big steel amusement pier which had been warped about by the great hurricane. He and Tex made a deal. Tex put some money into the dog track, enlarged the plan of the plant and saw it carried to fulfillment as the finest stadium devoted to dog racing in the world. He took an interest in the gambling house and a month should not be extravagant, and I submit that this is a pretty brisk business for country boys.

Without access to the private bank accounts of public officers and their wives and their cousins and their aunts, there is no way of telling how high the ice bill ran during the busy weeks of the season. But with the spenders gambling millions in the aggregate, a couple of hundred thousand a month should not be extravagant, and I submit that this is a pretty brisk business for country boys.

Business Too Risk. But undoubtedly they overdid things. There are actually thousands of quarter-in-the-slot machines draining off the money and, while I don't know how many gambling rooms there are, I would undertake to find thirty in one night myself. That Isn't moderation in a community of this size.

The local newspaper men tell me that the preachers take it easy during the winter and get blasé and raise the devil during the summer when there is no harm to be done because things are closed up anyway. I haven't paid much attention to church news, I admit, and can't vouch for the accuracy of this, but today I went through the Monday paper to see what the reverend pastors were saying in these circumstances, and found just one report of a sermon which dealt with the subject of Sabbath observance in the following vigorous terms:

"There are evil forces in the church and righteous forces in the world. This has placed the church memberships on both sides of almost all political and religious questions. The argument of personal liberty is a strong argument. The argument of protection and necessity is, to say the least, equally as strong."

ASSESSOR TAX RE
F LEGISL proposes Levy
onal Property

Charles Kruttschnitt, chairman of the assessors' association, announced that he will go before the board of the general assembly to propose a two major tax rate increase. First, he proposes a 10 percent increase in the property tax and a 5 percent increase in the income tax. Second, he urges that the state make an annual revenue estimate of the present quality of the property tax. The personal property tax is impossible for the state to collect because of the exemption of household furniture. Since the big stock and bond market for us in New York is a household furniture market, the state is only returning interest.

Where we have come to collect personal property tax on the radio, television, and other household furniture, the assessors for the state of small means. ASSESSOR TO ASK TAX REFORMS OF LEGISLATURE

Proposes Levy on Personal Property Income.

Charles Krutchoff, chairman of the committee on assessors, announced yesterday that he will go before the present session of the general assembly to ask for two major tax reforms.

First, he proposes a constitutional amendment to abolish the personal property tax and replace it with a tax on the income from personal property. Second, he urges that for real estate an annual revaluation take the place of the present quadrennial.

"The personal property tax, as it stands," he said, "is as unworkable as the national prohibition law. It is impossible for the assessors to collect a tax on securities in safety deposit boxes because we can't prove they are there. Since we can't get the big stock and bond holders, it is impossible for us to levy against the wage earners' household furnishings."

Have Exempted Furniture.
Technically, the small salaried household is subject to a personal property tax on his radio, his bed, his clothes, his stove, and other furnishings. The assessors for many years have exempted furniture owned by persons of small means.

"We haven't collected on savings accounts, either," said Mr. Krutchoff, "because it would be unreasonable to demand a 5 per cent tax on money that was only returning 3 1/2 per cent."

Where we have concentrated effort to collect personal property tax we haven't had much success. An example is an incident several years ago when the widow of a railroad man had the bulk of her husband's estate in a bank vault and we levied a tax on the securities. She came into court and swore that the property was not in Illinois, and she was probably telling the truth; it had probably been carried out of the county in a trunk.

Really Burden Unfair, He Says.
This failure to collect personal property taxes has thrown upon real estate an unfair portion of the cost of government. A state tax on the income from personal property is the logical solution of the problem. Sam has proved that an income tax can be collected with success."

In support of his proposal for an annual realty revaluation, Mr. Krutchoff pointed out that the growth of cheap changes the values of real estate too rapidly for the quadrennial work efficiently, golf courses becoming suburban neighborhoods within a few months, and residential districts becoming business sections.

"Where there has been a decided drop in the value of a piece of property," said the assessor, "four years too long for a man to wait for an adjustment of his taxes. Where there has been a decided boost in values, the owner can swallow the tax hike a whole lot better if it comes to him a small dose once a year rather than one lump at the end of four years."

AWARD CONTRACT FOR NEW $927,000 MARSHALL HIGH
The building and grounds committee of the board of education yesterday recommended that the contract for the construction of the new John Marshall High school, to be built at the corner of 127th and 128th streets, be let to the Great Lakes Construction company. The bid of $927,000, he let to the Great Lakes Construction company, whose bid was $10 lower than that of the Great Lakes company, was refused the contract because it was said that they were behind schedule on school work ready in progress.

A petition for a newschool presented by a delegation from the neighborhood served by the Barnard school, 10355 Charles street was taken under consideration by the committee. The present school building, according to the delegation, is a menace to pupils because of its antiquated heating system.

The shooting occurred on Nov. 23, 1928, in a soft drink parlor at 2854 North Clark street.

Hammack, according to the evidence, entered the soft drink parlor, early in the morning and robbed the owner, James Marchese of $20. He then served drinks to all the customers and forced them to sing and dance at the point of his revolver.
Mrs. Reagan and her escort, Samuel Hatfield, entered during this display and Hammack, it is charged, wanted to make love to her. When she refused him he shot her. She died several weeks later.

HOOVER SELECTS FORT AS FARM AID PLAN SPOKESMAN

McNary Foe to Lead Fight in House Committee.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Washington, D. C., March 11.—(Special.)—President Herbert Hoover today gave serious attention to the question of farm relief legislation. In a lengthy conference with Representative Franklin W. Fort [Rep., N. J.] the President discussed his program for dealing with the agricultural surplus problem.

It is the understanding that Representative Fort will be the chief Hoover spokesman in the house committee on agriculture. He was a leader in the opposition against the equalization fee of the McNary-Haugen bill vetoed by President Coolidge.

Led Fight on Lowden Plan.
In the convention at Kansas City last summer Mr. Fort was in charge of the successful fight for a farm relief plank in the Republican platform which would embody the Hoover program for farm relief as distinguished from the Lowden equalization fee program. Mr. Fort made the principal speech on the floor of the convention in the dramatic contest preceding the rejection of the Lowden farm relief plank submitted by a minority of the resolutions committee.

Subsequently the New Jersey man was made secretary of the Republican national committee and figured throughout the campaign as one of Mr. Hoover's principal aids.

New Farm Bill to Be Drafted.
Comments by Mr. Fort, following his conference with the President, made it apparent that an entirely new farm bill will be drafted by the house committee. Mr. Fort is not satisfied with the bill as introduced during the last session by Senator Charles F. McNary [Rep., Ore.]. The new McNary measure was intended to represent the Hoover program, but while the equalization fee has been eliminated it retains too many of the other features of the old McNary-Haugen bill to suit Mr. Fort.

The President conferred with Senator McNary on Saturday and is understood to have suggested numerous changes which should be made in the McNary bill.

Start Hearings March 27.
Mr. Fort said that a spokesman for each of the leading cooperative groups will be called before the house committee at the hearings scheduled to commence on March 27. The purpose will be, he said, to develop a comprehensive agricultural program, which will operate to the advantage of all the different farm elements.

The committee, he said, desires the most expert advice it can obtain on the best manner of handling the surplus of each farm commodity. Under the proposed legislation provision will be made for stabilization corporations to handle such surpluses with the aid of loans from a government fund.

Whether Mr. Fort or Representative Gilbert N. Haugen [Rep., Ia.], chairman of the house committee on agriculture, will introduce the Hoover bill and have charge of it on the floor of the house, is uncertain. It has been customary to allow the chairman of the committee to handle an administration bill if he wishes to do so. Mr. Haugen, however, has been so outspoken in favor of the equalization fee that the Hoover leaders may prefer to have some one else take charge of the bill.

Will Precede Tariff Battle.
According to the present plan, the farm bill will be taken up on the floor of the house ahead of the tariff bill when congress convenes on April 15. About a week will be allowed for its consideration. Senator McNary also plans to have a bill ready at the beginning of the session and both houses

ARMY BLIMP CATCHES ON TREE; GETS FREE AND FALLS INTO BAY

Norfolk, Va., March 11.—(AP)—After perching on a tree near Buckroe beach and getting free, the army dirigible TC-10 today made a forced descent on Chesapeake bay near Back river. The crew of four, with Lieut. Col. J. Wuest, executive officer at Langley Field, in command, was rescued, dry and unhurt, but the crippled ship lost much of the valuable helium gas with which it was filled.

The airship will be towed to Langley Field, its station, by launches. Those aboard the blimp beside Col. Wuest, whose wife, from the windows of her home, saw the descent, were Lieut. Leslie Skinner and Sergt. Harry Balacks and J. J. Horan of the 19th airship company.

The craft, one of those that took part in the inaugural parade in Washington last week and was battered by storms before reaching its base here, was on a test flight to determine if it had been damaged.

It was believed that a patch on the bag had become loosened during the storm and that while in the air today enough gas escaped to force it down.

are likely to discuss farm legislation simultaneously.

The farm relief measures may pass both houses by the end of April and probably will reach the statute books, after passing through the conference stage, some time in May.

HOOVER SCRAPS TWO CUSTOMS OF COOLIDGE REGIME

Daily Receptions for the Public Abandoned.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Washington, D. C., March 11.—(Special.)—President Hoover today scrapped two White House customs adhered to during the Coolidge administration.

President Coolidge's plan of shaking hands daily with a long line of tourists and sightseers was the first to go. White House attachés said that in the future President Hoover will hold these informal public receptions but once or twice a week. Thousands of persons greeted Mr. Hoover in this fashion during the first days after his induction into office.

His second departure from tradition came in the afternoon when the President and Mrs. Hoover received the ranking members of the diplomatic corps for the first time. Instead of formally greeting their distinguished guests as they passed by in line, the President and Mrs. Hoover went from group to group chatting informally with them until all had been greeted. Refreshments Are Served.

Following the exchange of greetings, the President and Mrs. Hoover served refreshments in the state dining room. Instead of the usual tea and cakes of the Coolidge administration, the diplomats were served sandwiches of various kinds, oysters, coffee, and ice cream.

It was recalled that on inauguration day, the President entertained more than a thousand people. Those coming at noon were served bouillon, chicken sandwiches, coffee, sausage rolls, and sweet rolls. Chicken patties constituted the chief course at the afternoon reception.

Activities in the executive offices were back virtually to a routine basis today. Among the callers were Representative J. C. Cranton [Rep., Mich.], one of the staunchest of house drys, and Senator Royal S. Copeland [Dem., N. Y.], an outstanding senate wet. Mr. Cranton declined to go into details regarding his conference with Mr. Hoover, except to say that the investigation of law enforcement to be initiated by the President, was discussed.

Favor National Constabulary.
Representative Cranton held several of the dry leaders favored the establishment of a national constabulary to be utilized in stopping smuggling of liquor and other contraband articles into the United States. Such a proposal was advanced in the house during the last congress and Mr. Cranton expressed the hope it would be adopted eventually.

Senator Copeland said he found the President working in a hot, stuffy office and advising in a hot, stuffy office at once. The suggestion was acted on. The New York senator said he told the President that he would be able to accomplish more if he kept his private office well ventilated.

BRIDE INSISTS ON MARRIAGE DATE;
WED IN HOSPITAL
Miss Marguerite Buckman of 438 West 66th place is among those persons who hold that it is unlucky to change the date of a wedding once it is set. So having planned for some time to have her marriage to Marvin Decker of Louisville, Ky., performed on March 11, she elected to go through with the ceremony yesterday, even though she was a patient in Wesley Memorial hospital.

All arrangements were made and last evening the ceremony was performed in room 501 of the hospital, with the patient's physician, Dr. J. E. Lotzpiech, as one of the witnesses. The groom, who is an executive of the American Tobacco company of Louisville, expects to take his bride south with him in about two weeks, when she is able to be moved. She is an orphan.

STATE RIPS INTO "MAGIC" BARREL OF GALPIN WARD

Reveals Role It Played on Primary Day.

The magic barrel used at a polling place in Homer K. Galpin's ward, the Twenty-seventh, during the April 10 primary, began to lose some of its mystery yesterday as the state unfolded its evidence in the trial of Thomas Taylor. The tally from the precinct reported a count of 716, whereas the poll books, according to witnesses, showed only 315 persons as having cast ballots during the day.

Howard A. Rounds, a handwriting expert, testified that 401 of the 716 ballots carried forged initials of the judge, Adolph Abernathy, one of the defendants.

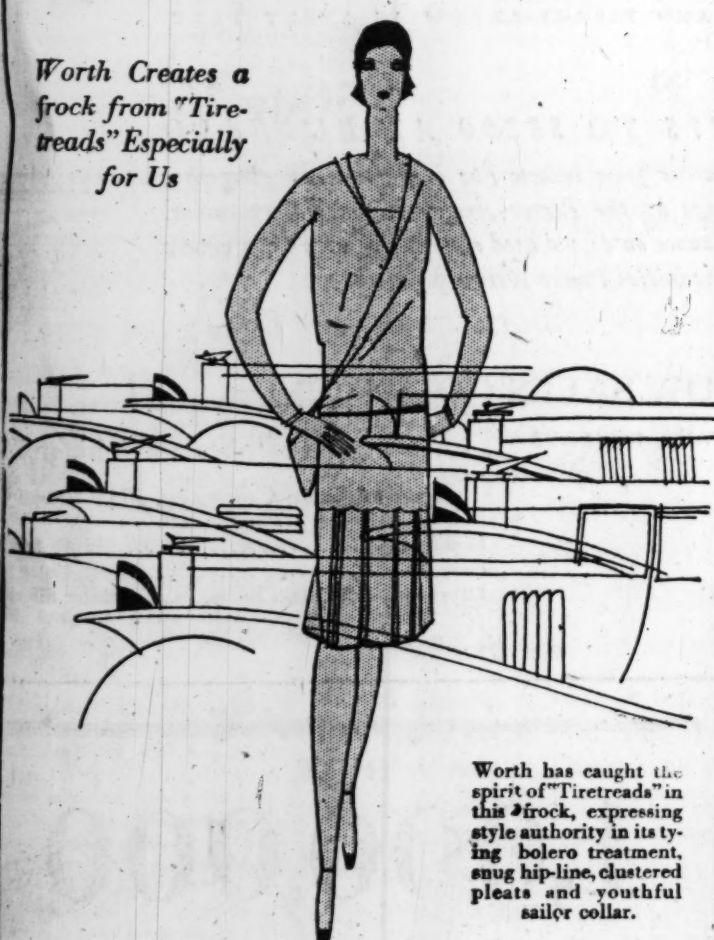

Barrel Is Rolled In.
William F. Sadler, Milwaukee, Wis., who was employed as a poll watcher by a detective agency working for the attorney general's office, testified that about 3 p. m. on election day Frank Whitch and Linde Wilkinson, two Galpin precinct captains on trial, rolled a barrel into the polling place, announcing that the ballot box was becoming too full.

The contents of the barrel box were then dumped into the barrel. After the polls closed at 4 p. m., the barrel was turned upside down onto the table. A surprisingly large number of ballots tumbled out, according to Sadler and to Attorney Frederick J. Bertram, a Chicago Bar association watcher, who followed him to the witness stand. They emphasized that several pieces of newspaper fell out of the barrel with the ballots, inferring that the newspapers had formed a false bottom.

Poll Book Disappears.
"Because there appeared to be too many ballots," said Attorney Bertram, "Mr. Sadler and I suggested that they be checked with the poll book. A search disclosed that the book had disappeared."

It is the theory of the state, as explained by Special Prosecutor E. C. Lombardy in his opening statement to the jury, that Abernathy, after receiving his election supplies the night before the primary, was invited to a drinking bout with other of the defendants, and a bundle of the ballots was stolen from him. The trial will be continued today.

Other defendants are: Barney Saloman, Frank Harkelrod, William McLaren, Bernard P. Cooney, Frank Smith, James Dorsey, and John Hunter.

MRS. O'NEILL OFF FOR NEVADA AND DIVORCE DECREE

New York, March 11.—(Special.)—Mrs. Cecil Fisk of Point Pleasant, N. J., sister of Mrs. Agnes Boulton O'Neill, today confirmed a report that Mrs. O'Neill had departed for Reno, Nev., to institute divorce proceedings against Eugene O'Neill, the playwright.

Mrs. O'Neill has been living with her sister in Point Pleasant. Mr. O'Neill now is traveling abroad.

A short time ago, it is understood, O'Neill and his wife reached a "gentlemen's agreement" under which Mrs. O'Neill agreed to divorce him either in Mexico, Italy or Nevada. Under this arrangement, it is said, Mrs. O'Neill will have a share in the playwright's income for life and will be given the O'Neill estate in Bermuda.

The playwright, friends say, probably will marry Miss Carlotta Monterey, the actress, after the divorce is obtained by his wife.

SAYS BRITISH WANT NAVY TO OUTSTRIP ALL

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Washington, D. C., March 11.—(Special.)—Chairman Fred A. Britten (Rep., Ill.) of the house naval affairs committee, today issued a statement charging that Great Britain had abandoned her "old traditional policy of having a navy equal to any two on the seas in favor of a policy of a royal fleet equal to the combined navies of the world."

"With the presentation of the annual appropriation bill for the British navy it is evident that all the talk by British statesmen that Great Britain was slowing up her ship program only was bait for American internationalists and pacifists," Mr. Britten said. "The British budget calls for the expenditure of 280 million dollars this year, of which approximately $42,000,000 is for new construction. When the pending bill is passed, appropriations will be available for five big gun cruisers in addition to the eight now building. Great Britain now has sixty-two modern cruisers in commission or under construction while the rest of the world combined has sixty-four."

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
OTTAWA, Ont., March 11.—The congratulatory message of Lord Willington, Canadian governor general, to President Hoover after last Monday's Washington inaugural ceremonies was the first ever to be sent by a Canadian governor-general to a President of the United States, and in the house today Richard Bennett, Conservative leader, asked the government if that message were sent on Willington's own initiative or the advice of the constitutional advisors. Premier King said: "It was a personal message for which I accept full responsibility."

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (Adv.)

JURISTS O.K. ROOT
PLAN TO GET U. S.
IN WORLD COURT

Formula Will Be Basis for New Protocol.

BY ROBERT SAGE.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

GENEVA, March 11.—The Elihu Root formula interpreting the second part of the United States senate's reservations in such a manner as to make possible America's adhesion to the world court of international justice today was tacitly accepted as the basis for discussion by the commission of fourteen international jurists charged with studying the question of revision of the statute of the court. The suggestions as outlined by Elihu Root himself at two private meetings of the commission today received unanimous approval and the first day's discussions showed tremendous strides toward achieving a common viewpoint. Eliminating allatory and superfluous formalities, the commission went directly to the heart of the matter.

As soon as this morning's meeting was opened Vittorio Scialoja of Italy was elected president and Dr. W. J. M. Van Eysinga of Holland vice president. Mr. Root was then called upon to outline his suggestions.

Outlines Difficulties.
When the commission reconvened this afternoon after having had an opportunity to study the Root formula

N. U. NAVAL RESERVE
UNIT IS ASSIGNED TO BERMUDA CRUISE

The Northwestern university unit of the naval reserve, which enjoyed a practice cruise along the Atlantic coast to Halifax and Nova Scotia last summer, will cruise next summer in warmer waters. The Northwestern reservists, together with units from Yale, Harvard and Georgia Institute of Technology, will sail aboard the battleship Wyoming and New York from Boston harbor for Bermuda, where the ships will remain three days. They will then sail for Charleston, S. C. Reservists on the cruise will be assigned to regular ship posts. Commander E. M. Woodson of the Northwestern unit announced the cruise schedule yesterday.

the unofficial American representative explained the difficulty of reaching an agreement due to apprehension on both sides, the United States fearing the council might use its advisory opinion privileges in such a way as to embarrass the United States, while the council is afraid the United States might use its control on an advisory opinion to interfere with the working of the peace mechanism.

Mr. Root said that in his opinion these apprehensions were unfounded and he could not imagine either trying to embarrass the other. The fact that Mr. Root's plan left the interior workings of the league of nations entirely to one side proved to be of particular interest to the commission. Working along the same lines as Mr. Root, Sir Cecil Hurst, British delegate, has drawn up a redraft of the plan which sharpens up Mr. Root's scheme and which was heartily approved by Mr. Root himself.

Commission Works Swiftly.
Tonight it is considered that the project is practically at the drafting stage, due to the swift, harmonious work of the commission in its two sessions, both of which were carried on more as informal chats than as formal meetings.

It is believed tonight that if the ensuing meetings proceed as satisfactorily as today's the commission will complete its consideration of the question of American adhesion to the court within two or three days and probably will draw up a revised and amplified protocol after hearing from Washington.

LIFT LENIN'S HEAD FROM COFFIN; FIND
IT IN GOOD SHAPE

MOSCOW, March 11.—(AP)—The remarkable state of preservation in which the body of Nikolai Lenin, the late communist leader, has been kept ever since his death five years ago was demonstrated today.

For the first time since Lenin's interment in his great red square mausoleum, Prof. Vorobyov, chief embalmer of the former premier's body, definitely refuted rumors that gradual petrification of the body had begun.

In the presence of a group of foreign newspapermen and representatives of the foreign office, Prof. Vorobyov opened Lenin's glass covered coffin and, lifting Lenin's head, gently flexed the ears and nose, and moved the skin from the cheeks and jaw, thus proving the remarkable flexibility of the body and its excellent state of preservation.

Prof. Vorobyov and Sharsky, the chief specialists entrusted with the task of preserving Lenin's remains intact for coming generations, said that they were constantly on the lookout for changes which might result from the sudden rising or falling of the temperature. Thus far, they said, the body had remained intact except for a slight shrinkage of the hands, which could be readily remedied.

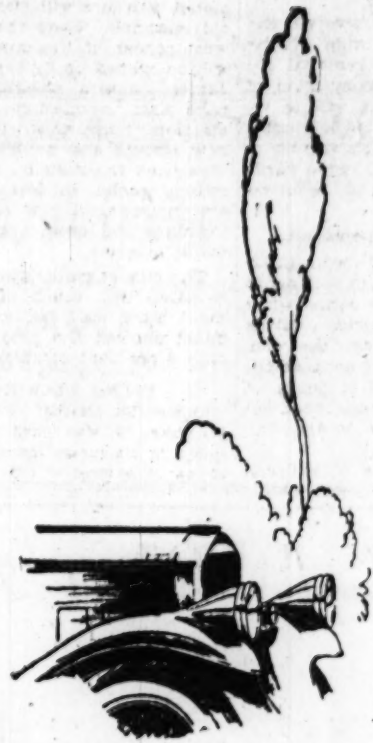

PIERCE-ARROW TURNS ANOTHER PAGE IN FINE CAR HISTORY

expansion reflects itself brilliantly in a new Straight Eight which is Pierce-Arrow to the very heart and core.

Besides being ultra-modern in its fresh, crisp beauty, the new Pierce-Arrow is longer in wheel-base than its recent predecessors. There are two groups in the new line—two wheel-bases—133 inches and 143 inches.

Big automobiles are these, but without the least suggestion of bulk. Arriving at the psychological moment, the new Pierce-Arrow Straight Eight forever obsolesces "the dowager" type of fine motor car.

A feature that has marked America's finest motor car for more than a quarter-century—the fender lamps of Pierce-Arrow.

Pierce-Arrow mechanical detail embraces every device of proved character known to the engineering of fine motor cars.

RENEW CHANNEL DREDGING; WORK BEHIND SCHEDULE

River Straightening Only 8% Completed.

Dredging of the new river channel between Polk and 18th streets was renewed yesterday afternoon after a period of delay during the winter months of cold weather. This project, regarded by city plan experts as the most important since the reversal of the stream's current in 1900, should be completed late in October, according to City Engineer Loran D. Gayton. Original plans called for opening of the channel on Sept. 1.

Mr. Gayton yesterday made public a chart which showed that much remains to be done on the mammoth job. Less than 20 per cent of the excavation work had been done up to March 1, the chart showed. The Great Lakes Dredge and Dock company, which was awarded the contract on its bid of $2,773,930, has spent but $242,566, or little more than 10 per cent of the entire cost, since digging was started last Sept. 29, it was revealed.

Work Reaches 14th Street. An inspection of the work yesterday showed a channel 150 feet wide and 14 feet deep cut from Taylor street to 14th street. The channel, when completed, is to be 200 feet wide and 27 feet deep and will extend to 18th street. Only a portion of the channel is being dredged at this time in order that dredging operations may be facilitated when the river flows through the new cut, it was explained.

The river straightening involves the literal lifting of a half mile of the stream's channel and its removal 300 yards to the west. The excavation of 250,000 cubic yards of dirt will be required. Approximately 240,000 cubic yards of dirt had been removed up to March 1. In addition 3,399 cubic yards of rock and masonry had been removed.

Historians Watch Operations. Chicago historians had been interested in the excavation, expecting to find, perhaps, relics of the period when Indians roamed the prairies. Little has been found thus far, the contractors reported, probably because the channel has been cut to a depth of only 14 feet. Workers have been ordered to report any finds to the Chicago Historical society.

Relocation of the maze of railroad tracks has been one of the huge tasks of the undertaking, Mr. Gayton said. He reported that the Baltimore and Ohio railroad has removed 70 per cent of its tracks, the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad 40 per cent, the Pennsylvania 70 per cent, and the Chicago and North Western 90 per cent.

There remains to be constructed 7,000 lineal feet of dock wall, a slow and laborious process which may not be completed at a faster rate than 400 feet a week, Mr. Gayton said. The completion of the B. & O. bridge at the south end of the channel in the latter part of May will speed operations, it was said.

After the new channel has been completed, workers will start filling in the old channel. Then the entire southwest corner of the downtown district will be opened up by the improvement.

James Simpson, chairman of the Chicago plan commission, has urged penetration of the area with a system of new streets and boulevards. He has visualized the district, now a maze of switch tracks, as dotted by skyscrapers encircling a new electrified union terminal and crossed by double deck traffic arteries.

The city engineer's report yesterday revealed that much of this improvement must wait for some time. The chart showed the project as a whole only 8 per cent completed.

QUAKE WRECKS ENTIRE VILLAGE IN NEW ZEALAND

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.) WELLINGTON, New Zealand, March 11.—The center portion of the south island of New Zealand has been visited by a series of earthquakes which caused considerable damage but no fatalities. Arthur's Pass, a small railway village at the entrance of the Oira tunnel, was completely ruined. The first earthquake was preceded by a terrific roar, which caused quantities of rock to roll down the hillsides. Scarcely a piece of crockery was left intact in the homes nearby. Pictures fell off the walls, every chimney in the town was shattered, the electric light system was put out of action.

At the time of the first quake most of the residents were at a dance hall where the walls bulged and the floor rose upwards, making it impossible to stand on it. One hundred and forty distinct shocks were felt. Westport, Greymouth, and other towns were affected. The railway bridge was found to be a foot higher than the track.

Quake Hits Perthshire Town.

MOSCOW, March 11.—(AP)—Reports were received in Moscow today of an earthquake in Namangan, a town of Russian Turkistan in Ferghana. The advice stated that damage had been caused by the temblor, but gave no further details.

TRIBUNE BUREAU HELPS 13,000 FILL OUT INCOME TAX

The amount a taxpayer may deduct from his income tax for using his automobile in his business seems to be the principal question bothering those who come to Tax Tribune's Public Service office, at 7 South Dearborn street, for help. When the office closed last night almost 13,000 persons had been given assistance since Feb. 10, when deputy collectors of internal revenue were stationed there.

"The average taxpayer thinks he is entitled to an exemption on his car," Deputy Collector E. P. Henthorn said. "Each day it is necessary for us to explain that the only exemption a pleasure car is entitled to is the amount paid out for licenses and for interest on installments, in case the car was purchased in that fashion."

Collector of Internal Revenue Mabel G. Reinecke announced yesterday that collections thus far this year are running far ahead of those of last year. From March 1 to March 9, 1929, Mrs. Reinecke said, there were 32,700 returns made and $3,140,256.07 collected, while for the same period last year only 21,600 returns were made and $2,667,428.14 collected.

FREEZE WITH HEAT..... The ELECTROLUX Refrigerator

NOISELESS

when you buy it and forever after

The Electrolux has no moving parts to wear or make sound. A tiny gas flame takes the place of all machinery

THE noiselessness of Electrolux is not the man-made quietness of smoothly running machinery. It is not the result of sound muffled. Rather, it is like the natural silence of a deep well, where no sound exists.

Baths of oil, insulated compartments, oilless bearings, live rubber mountings—these are efficient deadeners of sound. But the Electrolux uses none of them, for it needs none. It has no sound to start with, and acquires none with age.

A month, a year or ten years is all the same to the silence of Electrolux. There is no machinery, not a single moving part, and hence no vibration or friction; not a thing to work loose or get out of adjustment.

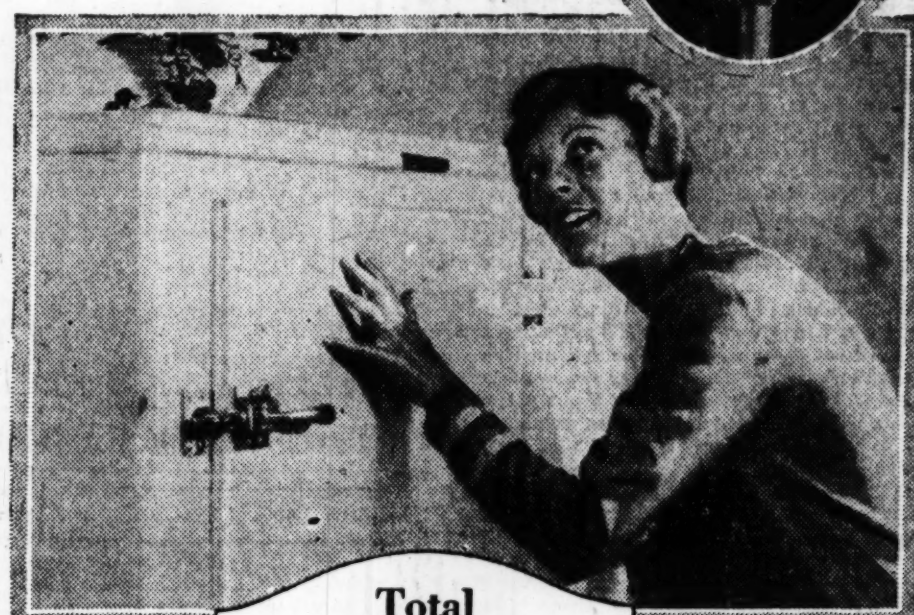

The wonder is how such simplicity can work and keep on working, with apparently so little to make it go. Yet this very simplicity is one of the surest guarantees of perfect, continuous service. It is one of the biggest reasons why you needn't ever expect to have trouble and bother.

Like so many of the newer and finer appliances, this one at Marine Ave. and 96th St., Brooklyn, N. Y., uses the Electrolux for refrigeration.

Total cost of operation 5 to 8½ cents a day in Chicago

Gas and water are not only relatively cheap, but the Electrolux uses only a tiny gas flame and a mere trickle of water. That is why the operating cost is ridiculously low.

A tiny gas flame, a trickle of water, a common ordinary refrigerating liquid—that's all there is to Electrolux. As soon as you light the flame, the chilling action starts, and goes on without further attention from you.

You'll always have a constant, evenly low temperature in the food chamber. You'll always have a generous supply of big pure ice cubes. But you won't have a big bill for operating expense. In fact, the ridiculously low month-to-month cost is one of the most pleasing features of this remarkable refrigerator.

One reason for this saving is that gas and water are relatively cheap. Another is that Electrolux uses such a small quantity of each. The flame is only a trifle larger than a pilot light. The water is just a trickle.

The little flame burns continuously. Should it ever go out for any reason, no harm is done. The freezing action stops, but the gas automatically shuts off until you light it again.

Step into the nearest display room and see for yourself the interesting array of sizes and models, in white and beautiful color harmonies. Prices depend upon size, and range from $225 to $510 f.o.b. Evansville, Ind. Purchase terms are liberal.

BATTLE FOR FAIR GAS TAX SPLIT AT CRISIS IN HOUSE

50-50 Amendment to Be Presented Tomorrow.

Downstate takes 96% of Illinois motor license fees.

BY PUTNEY HAIGHT.

Zero hour for the grand assault of the allied forces of Cook county the League of Illinois Municipalities and the Downstate Agricultural association, upon Gov. Louis L. Emmerson's 1 cent gasoline tax bill has been set for 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at Springfield.

The group opposing the governor's tax measure will be led by Representative Michael Igoe, minority leader in the house, and from all reports in his hands at a late hour last night he feels confident that the differences which heretofore have existed on the question of a fair distribution of the revenue to be derived from the tax have been sufficiently ironed out to guarantee a solid front for the conflict.

Seek Equal Division.

The governor's bill will come up before the house on its third reading, having been transmitted from the senate and sent to second reading by agreement. The campaign of attack, Mr. Igoe said, would be in the form of amendments to provide that the tax moneys be divided equally between the state and counties.

"The downstate members are not satisfied with the division of two-thirds for the state and one-third for the counties, especially in those counties where the bond issue roads have been largely completed," he said. "The representatives from counties where the bond issue roads were neglected by the last administration still hope to gain by having the state given the two-for-one proportion. In that way they believe they will get faster action on their highways and will not have to launch on county enterprises to provide for their own motor traffic."

In the opinion of many Gov. Emmerson's measure is a more unfair proposition than the one proposed by Gov. Small, which was invalidated by the Supreme court. Especially will such a law affect the prestige of the present governor in the northern tier of the state and in the populous centers in other parts of the state.

Cities Unite with Chicago.

"The members of the municipalities' league have assured us that they will go along on the proposition for equal division, as they feel that their requirements can be met through action of their county boards. Mayor Bartoli of Evanston, president of the league, has given assurance that this plan division will be acceptable. Within Cook county the city of Chicago sees its particular problem met through the county commission, and from what I can learn the representatives from Cook will stand together for it."

It has also been learned that the agricultural association, which at first stood for a fifty-fifty division, but with no provision for road widening in and near populous centers, has now become convinced that the provision for road widening will not be a serious objection. On the other hand Gov. Emmerson is reported to have expressed the opinion yesterday that the senate bill will pass the house without serious interference and should go into effect on July 21 as planned.

It is possible that James Simpson, chairman of the Chicago plan commission, will be able to appear in the house Wednesday morning to speak in behalf of the amendments. It is felt by Mr. Igoe that his personal plea will add to the strength of the opponents of the bill in its present form.

with the luxurious beauty and charm of these splendid new rugs—made in America, by modern methods of production, yet embodying to a remarkable degree the appearance and texture of Oriental Rugs.

With these beautiful rugs there is the atmosphere of the Orient, and a feeling of the finest old traditions of hand-woven rugs from the rug centers of Persia. All that ever gave beauty to fine Persian rugs is here except the hand weaving.

They reproduce masterpieces of Oriental designing at its best. Most of the patterns are remarkably faithful reproductions of famous museum examples of Persian antiques, made during the Golden Age of rug weaving, the Sixteenth Century, and which have never been surpassed.

In the finest of materials

Karastan Rugs are made of materials that are unsurpassed in quality, closely woven, with a deep pile, resilient to the tread of the foot and with a lustrous beauty and brilliance that marks the finest types of Oriental rugs.

In a wide range of colors

Covering all the favorite predominating colors, in various types of design that, through hundreds of years, have found universal acceptance in cultured homes. The lustre and sheen which play such a dominant part in the beauty of the Oriental are the outstanding features of the Karastans.

At remarkably low prices

As a logical result of the economies of modern manufacturing methods the prices of Karastan Rugs are considerably less than half what a good Oriental rug of comparable design and quality would cost. Thus a rug approximately 8.6 x 12 ft. is $195. You should see these rugs now whether purchases are contemplated or not.

Mr. Coolidge's Own Story

In April Cosmopolitan he Breaks his Silence and tells

THE PRICE in HEARTACHES of BEING PRESIDENT

Now and then a President of the United States has written something which became historical as a human document rather than as a state paper. Washington's farewell address, Lincoln's letter to a mother; these were the thoughts of great men written in a manner so human that none could fail to feel the heart behind them.

In April Cosmopolitan Calvin Coolidge begins his account to the American people of his years in the White House. We believe he has written a human document as fine as those by Washington and Lincoln.

Only a few thousand Cosmopolitans are left in this city

Tomorrow they may be gone

YOU may be too late to buy a copy of April Cosmopolitan on the news-stands.

Newsdealers have reported an unprecedented demand for this issue. Those huge stacks of Cosmopolitan vanished from the news-stands within a few hours. Hundreds of dealers are already sold out.

This phenomenal sale is no surprise to those of us who had read Mr. Coolidge's manuscript. The response of the public was shown the moment April Cosmopolitan appeared.

Ray Long, announcing Mr. Coolidge's story, says that he believes Mr. Coolidge has written a human document as fine as those by Washington and Lincoln. The press confirms his opinion.

The New York Times, for instance, says:

"Three days after stepping down from his exalted office, Mr. Coolidge appeared yesterday as a contributor to the Cosmopolitan Magazine. . . . The article presents a little-known side of the former President and discloses a deep strain of emotion. It reveals depths of feeling which he never permitted to show in the searching lime-light and analyses to which he was subjected during five and a half years at the capital."

We put especial emphasis on that word "human." You, of course, have heard that Calvin Coolidge was a sphinx. That he had ice-water in his veins. That he never smiled.

Bosh! Calvin Coolidge enjoys a joke as much as you do. He can tell as entertaining an anecdote as you can. He's no hail-fellow-well-met—thank heaven—but he's a very human being.

Those who thought they were smart in calling him a sphinx seemed to resent the reserve of their President. That never worried him. He believed the words of the President were important; that they should be chosen carefully and used sparingly. But Calvin Coolidge, the man—that's a different matter. And it's the man who talks to you in his own story.

In Part One, in April Cosmopolitan, he tells you the human reasons why he did not choose to run in 1928. They are reasons which will touch the heart of every American; reasons which will make you understand when he says, "It costs a lot to be President."

We may exceed our province as prophets when we say that we believe these words by Mr. Coolidge will become historical, but we are within our province as editors when we say that his is the most warmly human document it ever has been our good fortune to publish.

Why Mr. Coolidge Chose Cosmopolitan

Mr. Coolidge not only did us the honor of choosing Cosmopolitan to publish his story, but he also did us the favor of putting in a few words an excellent sales argument for our magazine. With his faculty for applying common sense to a question, he pointed to a factor which should make this magazine differ from all others in the eyes of the advertiser.

The editor of Cosmopolitan was discussing with Mr. Coolidge the advantages of presenting his story in a monthly magazine, and particularly in Cosmopolitan. The best of the weekly magazines, the editor felt, was only a little less ephemeral than a daily newspaper. Any monthly magazine had much longer life. And because Cosmopolitan was produced on a standard which enabled it to sell at 35c, the editor believed it was kept longer and read more thoroughly than any other general magazine. Mr. Coolidge thought a moment, then said:

"Yes, when you pay 35c for a magazine, that magazine takes on in your eyes the nature of a book and you treat it accordingly."

Mr. Coolidge was correct. Cosmopolitan is kept throughout the month, and sometimes longer. In most cases, it is read by every member of the family. To use an advertising term, it has the longest "reading life" of any publication of volume circulation. That is one of several reasons why it delivers generous results to advertisers.

CHAPMAN-ROSS FIGHT WARMS UP IN 40TH WARD

3 Defeated Candidates Against Alderman.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
Aldermanic campaigning warmed up a trifle yesterday in the 40th ward where Ald. John W. Chapman and Dr. Joseph C. Ross are in the runoff election to be held April 2. A bulletin announced that three of the seven candidates who fell by the wayside in the primary Feb. 26 were throwing their support to Dr. Ross. They were Charles H. Lense, Chester A. Frederickson and Carl C. Rosenbaum, who were said to have declared for Dr. Ross at a meeting of his workers at 4711 North Kedzie avenue.

The Chapman Retort.
The Chapman camp professed to find only a languid interest in the news, pointing out that the three ex-candidates in question together polled only 1,010 votes by the official count, or less than 5 per cent of the total vote of 21,953. At the polls Feb. 26 Chapman received 5,640 votes and Ross 4,916. J. A. Schiller ran third with 4,921, and Dr. William Duncan McNally finished fourth with 1,110.

"These three allies have declared Ross can count on their unqualified support. It shows the sentiment against Ald. Chapman," said the Ross followers.

"About as much weight as three Mexican generals," said Chapman's friends.

McKinlay Backs Northrup.
In the 19th ward where Paul Herriott and O. E. Northrup will run it off April 2 for the aldermanic shoes vacated by Donald S. McKinlay when he was elected to the municipal bench, the campaign is becoming active. In the Feb. 26 primary Herriott led a field of ten candidates, getting 10,393 votes and Northrup came second with 3,307.

Judge McKinlay has come out with a letter of endorsement of Mr. Northrup.

"Both candidates are decent, honest men," says the judge. "The M. V. I. gave them a fine rating. However, I have reason to endorse Mr. Northrup. I have seen him in action for years as president of one of the largest improvement associations in the ward."

"Mr. Northrup has had experience in fighting efforts to relax zoning restrictions in Brainerd. In the aldermanic contest two years ago when the issue was the speculator versus the home owner, Mr. Northrup stood by the home owner. I am convinced that those who desire to break in on our zoning restrictions are antagonistic to Northrup."

Richard S. Folsom, corporation counsel in Mayor Thompson's first cabinet, made a plea for the reelection of Ald. Dorsey Crowe in the 42d ward at a meeting in the North Side Turner hall, 820 North Clark street, last night. Mr. Folsom was active in the 42d ward, then the 21st, more than a quarter of a century ago. He had been making his home on the south side up to a few months ago, when he returned to the ward.

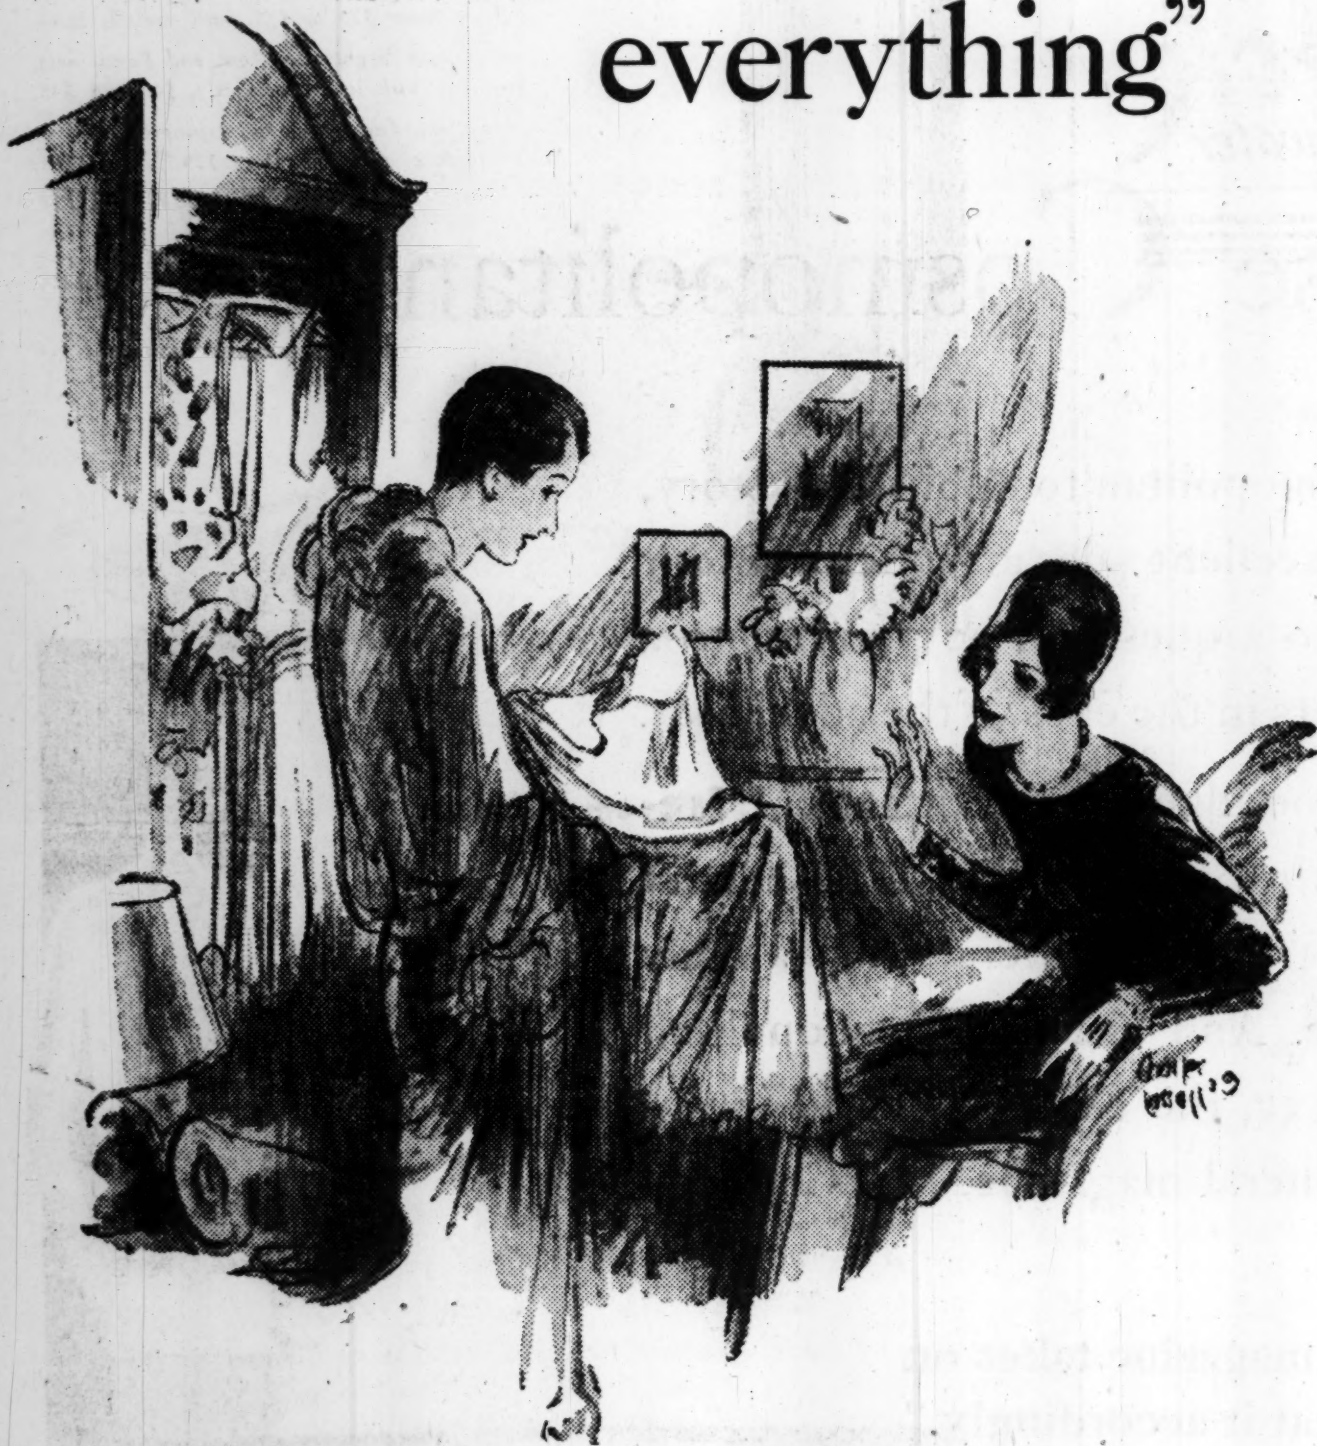

CANADA PLANS TARIFF CUT ON BRITISH GOODS

OTTAWA, Ont., March 11.—(AP)—W. R. Fansher, Progressive member for Last Mountain, Sask., said in the house of commons today Canada could make "a very effective answer to the tariff raising policy of the new President of the United States" by materially decreasing its tariff on British goods.

Gen. J. A. Clark, Conservative, Vancouver, B. C., attacked what he called the Canadian government's "policy of inaction" on tariff questions, saying that Canada's adverse balance of trade with the United States had risen from $92,000,000 in 1925 to an estimated four hundred and twenty-seven million dollars in 1928.

H. B. Hanson, a Conservative, suggested some means be devised so parliament at this session could take action when United States tariffs against the dominion were made effective. If necessary, he said, the house should be adjourned, to reassemble and deal with the tariff situation which would result from congressional action.

Teeth HARD to whiten? try a big blue tube of IODENT No. 2

IF your teeth are naturally hard to whiten—as even the finest teeth frequently are—don't expect to make them gleam by using a tooth paste too frothy or foamy or one that liquefies too quickly in the mouth.

Soap suds don't polish silver and soap suds don't polish teeth.

To erase stubborn enamel stains and yellow tartar deposits—and to do so without the use of harmful grit or bleaches—Dr. Lautmann, Detroit dentist, created IODENT No. 2, now one of the most popular tooth pastes in the world.

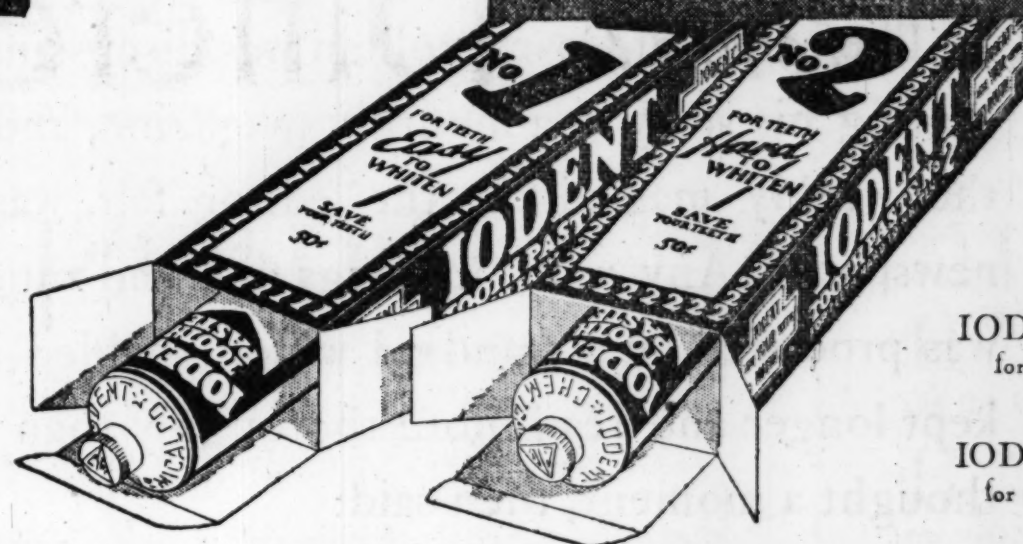

IODENT No. 2 polishes teeth swiftly and safely, to a sparkling lustre, because its close-knit texture is right and because it contains cleaning ingredients which time and science have proved best.

For teeth that are easy to whiten, IODENT No. 1 is equally effective—and IODENT is the only tooth paste in the world that provides two pastes for these two recognized classes of teeth.

And, of equal importance, remember that both IODENTS contain calcium and potassium iodides in easily soluble form—known to the dental profession for years as unsurpassed for stimulating the gum tissues—keeping the gums pink, hard and healthy.

Try this splendid dentifrice today. Your dentist recommends it and your druggist sells it.

N. Y. UNDERTAKES 107 MILLION TOLL BRIDGE, TUNNEL

Projects Expected to Pay for Themselves.

New York, March 11.—[Special.]—The most ambitious public improvement project to be constructed, owned on its way by the board of estimate and operated by the city was started and apportionment today.

By unanimous vote the board undertook to build the proposed triborough bridge connecting the Bronx, Manhattan and Queens, and the proposed tunnel under the Narrows connecting South Brooklyn and Staten Island.

Will Pay for Themselves.
The cost of the two enterprises will exceed 107 million dollars, and they will not impose any tax burden on the city, because they are to be operated on the toll system and will eventually pay for themselves.

The resolution inaugurating the improvement was introduced by Mayor Walker. It directs the controller to issue corporate stock for the cost; the commissioner of plant and structures and the board of transportation to begin drawing plans for the physical work, and the bill drafting commissioner and the corporation counsel to draft the necessary legislation.

Will Be Run by City.
The bridge and the tunnel are to be built by contract, and, when completed, are to be operated by the bureau of plant and structures.

It is estimated that the tunnel, because of the depth at which it will have to be constructed, and the engineering difficulties which are to be encountered both under water and in the proper adjustment of approaches.

SIMPSON GIVES TART REPLY TO HARLAN DEMAND

James Simpson, chairman of the citizen's transit committee, yesterday made a tart comment for the benefit of John Maynard Harlan, attorney for F. J. Lisman and other bankers who are seeking a transportation franchise from the city.

Mr. Harlan on Sunday wrote to Mr. Simpson suggesting that he resign as chairman of the citizens' committee appointed by Federal Judge Wilkerson. Mr. Harlan's basic reason for his request is that Mr. Simpson is a director of the Commonwealth Edison company.

In reply Mr. Simpson said: "The citizens' transit committee, of which I am chairman, was appointed by Judge Wilkerson after a conference with some of the members of the city council and the mayor of the city of Chicago. Before I was appointed I told Judge Wilkerson that I was a director of the Commonwealth Edison company and that my resignation would be in his hands from the time of my appointment until it is accepted or until the job was done. That statement holds good. I have not talked with Henry A. Blair, Samuel Insull, Leonard A. Busby, Britton L. Budd or Guy A. Richardson either before or since my appointment as chairman of the citizens' committee about traction.

That, together with the observation that I do not understand men of Mr. Harlan's characteristics, is all that I have to say at present."

AIR LINES MAKE 10 MILLION MILE RECORD IN 1928

52,900 Passengers Rode —Mail Tripled.

The two hundred ninety-four planes operated by air transport companies in the United States during 1928 flew a total of 10,472,024 miles on regularly scheduled routes and carried 52,934 passengers, according to figures contained in a report made public yesterday by the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce of America. The statistics indicate an increase of 420 per cent in passenger traffic and 100 per cent in mileage over 1927.

"Twenty-three new passenger lines aggregating 6,451 miles in length were either launched or extended to other cities," the statement said. "Mail routes new or extended during the year numbered sixteen, increasing regular mail routes by 5,928 miles. Nine express lines, with a total of 2,151 miles, were put in service."

Air Service Tripled.

The volume of air mail carried during the year was tripled. The total for 1927 was 1,222,843 pounds. In 1928 the total poundage had grown to 3,632,059. Twenty-two companies were operating thirty-three air mail lines under contract with the postoffice department, with four new lines scheduled to be placed in operation early in 1929. Mail planes were flying an average of 27,848 miles every twenty-four hours.

"Reports from all the operators having express contracts indicate a healthy growth in business during the year," the report stated. "Approximately two thousand tons were carried. Just as a reduction of air mail postage on Aug. 1—from 10 cents to 5 cents for the first ounce—had the immediate effect of filling mail planes with capacity loads, so were many factors calculated to increase the volume of express."

Establish Feeder Lines.

"Late in the year feeder lines were being developed to connect with the long haul systems. Regularity of service was constantly attracting public attention. Lack of accidents on the air transport routes was convinc-

Aviation Notes

Sightseeing planes at the municipal airport carried more than 350 passengers on tours over the city Sunday. The Grey Goose Lines, the National Air Transport, Stout Airways, and Universal Flying Service inaugurated their spring season with six trimotor planes in operation.

The twenty-three air mail lines operating under contract with the post office department carried 435,931 pounds of mail during the month of February, the department announced yesterday. The figures show an average of 15,556 pounds daily, as compared with 15,353 during January. The Chicago-San Francisco route retained its January lead, with a total poundage of 114,775 pounds. The New York-Chicago route was second with 101,596 pounds.

A scholarship in aeronautical engineering, the first recorded in the United States, has been established at the Daniel Guggenheim School of Aeronautics at New York university by J. Don Alexander, president of the Alexander Eaglerock Aircraft Manufacturing company.

A six passenger biplane, first of the products of the Great Lakes Aircraft company of Cleveland to reach Chicago, arrived at the municipal airport yesterday and will be on exhibition there during the week. The plane, which is powered by a Hornet motor, carries the pilot in a cockpit outside and above the cabin.

With the construction early this spring of a lighting system over a short stretch of the western air mail route over the Rocky mountains, the transcontinental air mail line from New York to San Francisco will be completely lighted. It was announced yesterday in a bulletin from the department of commerce.

A syndicate headed by Seth Low who last week purchased Roosevelt field on Long Island, yesterday acquired Curtiss field, adjoining the Roosevelt field on the west, according to dispatches from New York. The price paid for either field was not made public, although it was stated that between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000 would be spent in developing the combined properties.

PLANE CRASHES AT MILWAUKEE; TWO FLYERS DIE

Milwaukee, Wis., March 11.—(AP)—Christian Sethvate, manager of the Milwaukee county airport, and Mark McComb, Milwaukee aviator, were killed when their airplane crashed here early tonight.

The Velle motor of the Mohawk Pinto monoplane stalled in flight at a low altitude and the machine plunged nose first into a field, burying the motor, according to witnesses. The flight had started but a few minutes before. Apparently McComb was the pilot, deputy sheriffs said. McComb had interested himself recently in airplane manufacture and sale. Sethvate was trained in the army and had been a pilot eight years. He was manager of the airport here for about two years.

FLYING COUNTRY CLUB ON NORTH SHORE PLANNED

Chicago Project Will Be Mapped Friday.

BY ROBERT WOOD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
New York, March 11.—[Special.]— Plans are being made to establish an aviation country club somewhere near Chicago's north shore district, equipped with a clubhouse, hangars, a landing field and a fleet of planes affording the flying sportsman, like the golfer, a place "to develop his game."
The plans will be discussed by the national board of managers of aviation country clubs when the board meets here next Friday, it was learned today.
New York has three such clubs and a fourth is in the process of organization in Philadelphia. The Long Island club is spending some $300,000 in constructing an elaborate clubhouse, a landscaped flying field, and in purchasing a fleet of 25 airplanes for the use of its members.

Clubs for Other Cities.

Similar clubs are located at Westbury and Newport. Others are to be established in Hartford, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Detroit, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Washington, Santa Barbara, and elsewhere.

The membership roster of the New York clubs include the name of Rockefeller, Whitney, Davidson, Leeds, Vanderbilt, and many other prominent persons.

Convinced that the world is about to enter upon a flying era in which traveling in airplanes will become as common as traveling by automobile, these men contemplate a nation-wide chain of social flying centers for the advancement of the new mode of travel, it was pointed out.

Follows British Plan.

Charles Lanier Lawrance, head of the Wright Aeronautical company and president of the Aviation Country Club association, stated today that the plans followed closely those adopted by the British air ministry for the formation of light flying clubs now instrumental in creating public interest in flying in England, Australia, and Canada.

"The clubs will be maintained on the same scale as that of the most exclusive sports clubs in the country," Mr. Lawrance stated. "Each will have a private flying field with all necessary appurtenances, such as hangars, machine shops, fueling facilties and store rooms."

A fleet of club planes will be available to members, expert mechanics will service the club's ships and those of members. Flight instruction will be given by resident pilots.

Circle U. S. Club to Club.
"It only will be a short time before our members will be able to circle the United States by air in easy, comfortable stages—from club to club. His plane is serviced, he dines with fellow club members, he spends the evening at some congenial pastime, and he has comfortable accommodations for the night."

The clubs are being organized on a national scale, Mr. Lawrance explained, because flying, by virtue of its freedom from the restrictions of short distances and prescribed routes, takes on a broader scope than the usual social club.

An amphibian plane will be part of the equipment of most clubs, he said, and likely will be pressed into service for an hour each morning and evening by members commuting to and from offices.

Need of Reserve Pilots.

Another service of the aviation country clubs was pointed out by Maj. Lester D. Gardner, president of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce.

"The nation's military leaders have voiced their views as to the all importance of air preparedness," Mr.
Gardner asserted.

"America must have a strong reserve of able pilots, and public minded men see in aviation country clubs an effective instrument for the creation of an emergency corps of officer flyers."

"The sportsmen of the world always have taken the lead in national defense, and America's sportsmen pilots would be prepared to carry on this tradition of service."

There Are Literally No Cars In The World That Can Equal Cadillac-La Salle

What was true twenty-five years ago is even more true today—no car in the world is so closely, finely manufactured as Cadillac—and exactly the same thing applies to the Cadillac-built La Salle.

IT IS actually a fact that the Cadillac Motor Car Company can and does build into Cadillac and La Salle not only the best in materials and workmanship but the finest possible artistic and scientific achievement in motor car design, engineering and manufacture.

This is not only logical and reasonable but in a very real and literal sense inevitable. For back of traditionally superior Cadillac craftsmanship stand the colossal resources of General Motors deliberately planned to achieve a purchasing power that permits value-giving in excess of any other standard.

With the wealth of surpassing new engineering and manufacturing refinements in today's Cadillacs and La Salles it becomes more obvious than ever before that, if you want the kind of luxurious motoring that Cadillac and La Salle provide, you simply must drive a Cadillac or La Salle.

Consider, for example, the exclusive safety features in Cadillac and La Salle. No other cars in the world possess them:

The Cadillac-LaSalle Syncro-Mesh Silent-Shift Transmission was designed and perfected specifically for the highest degree of control in all driving conditions. A vital essential in time of emergency, this transmission permits lightning-like shifting of gears with a finger-touch, at any speed, without pausing in neutral. It is quiet, simple, positive and effortless in operation and removes even the faintest suggestion of clashing gears.

The sense of security inspired by the Cadillac-La Salle Duplex-Mechanical System of Four-Wheel Brakes will prove a decidedly unique motoring experience. Though these brakes are amazingly powerful and positive in action, slight effort is required to operate them. Just a touch of the toe on the brake pedal and they respond instantaneously.

Cadillac-La Salle Security-
Plate Glass, with which Cadillac-La Salle windows, doors and windshields are equipped, is the highest quality, perfect-vision plate glass. It remains intact in the event of collision or if struck by stones flung up from the wheels of passing cars—so that the Cadillac-La Salle owner may rid his mind of any concern about being injured by flying glass fragments.

These are but three of a host of exclusive ultra-modern manufacturing refinements incorporated in Cadillac-La Salle. Experience these new features for yourself. Drive the new Cadillac or La Salle. Then see if you can find their equal elsewhere.

In addition to twenty-three refreshingly beautiful Fisher Bodies for the new Cadillac and the new La Salle there are fifteen exclusive and exquisite custom-built models, Fleetwood designed and Fleetwood built.

La Salle is priced from $2295 to $2875; Cadillac $3295 to $3995; Fleetwoods up to $7000
—all prices f.o.b. Detroit. Cadillac-La Salle dealers welcome business on the General Motors Deferred Payment Plan. Enjoy the car now and pay out of income.

ASK BERLIN FOR ITS VIEWS ON BIG WAR DEBT BANK

Experts Tackle Problem of Amount of Capital.

BY HENRY WALES.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
PARIS, March 11.—Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the German reparation bank and leader of the German delegates to the reparations meeting, left for Berlin this afternoon. He is due back Wednesday after a day of conferences with the German government regarding Germany's attitude toward the establishment of the proposed international bank for handling reparations. He also will confer regarding Germany's last word on the maximum annuities and the term of years Germany is prepared to pay indemnity.

The plenary session of experts this morning examined the trusteeship angle of the bank for receiving and disbursing reparations, and urged that the subcommittee report in full on Wednesday.

Denies Objections to Bank.
Thomas W. Lamont, the American spokesman, denied reports that there is any objection against the bank. He insisted that the scope of the establishment must be examined before it is officially adopted.

It is reported that the bank, besides handling economic and financial questions, will also deal in social and labor problems, and even tariff and customs questions, in order to promote world trade and aid Germany in exporting and making deliveries in kind to pay off the reparations.

Consider Amount of Capital.
PARIS, March 11.—(AP)—Members of the second Dawes' committee after a morning's discussion of the plan for an international bank to handle German reparations payments were unanimous in considering the trustee function of the institution as settled, so proceeded to talk about other features.

The amount of capital of the new bank was the subject of a lengthy exchange of views. Opinions generally tended toward the idea of limiting capital to minimum requirements, though there was a suggestion that larger capital might facilitate working of the institution in financing deliveries in kind.

The relations of the new bank with central banks or banks of issue in different countries were touched on, and the necessity of avoiding any competition with those institutions was emphasized. It virtually was agreed that the charter of the bank should be so drawn as to make it impossible for it to encroach upon the fields of state banks.

The question of who is to furnish the initial capital necessary to start such a bank going and who is to get the profits from its operations remains to be decided.

Wall Street Approves Bank.
New York, March 11.—(AP)—Instant approval was accorded today by international and Wall street bankers to the proposal for an international clearing bank to handle German reparations and act as an umpire in war debt payment questions.

Bankers, however, refused to be quoted directly for fear that mention of the plan would result in European politicians charging that Wall street would dominate the bank.

One international authority saw in the plan a new angle for insuring world peace, and another even went so far as to state that in his opinion such a bank in 1914 would have prevented the world war.

General opinion seemed to be that considerable opposition would be stirred, but that the plan in the end would be adopted and eventually the bank would become an international clearing house for gold, in which all the central banks of the participating countries would have an interest. In this manner shipments of gold would be eliminated.

Vice President Curtis Visiting Laskers in Florida
Miami, Fla., March 11.—(AP)—Vice President Charles Curtis arrived here tonight to spend several days at the Miami Beach home of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Lasker. He was greeted by them and Mayor Louis F. Smedigan of Miami Beach and Mayor E. G. Sewell of Miami.

The national congress will meet at Nanking Saturday. The left faction hopes for control.

Seeks Compromise.
Gen. Li Chai-sum, Kwangsi leader, who controls Canton and is a strong opponent of the left faction, has reached Shanghai. He will attempt to reach a compromise with the left. It is the purpose of the Kwangsi faction to retain Canton, and they have dispatched 4,000 troops to the southern Hunan border. An uprising movement of the Nanking armies continues.

The Hankow troops are concentrating at Ping-siang, terminus of the railway east of Changsha.

The situation in Peking is soething with possibilities aside from the communists, since indications point to a revolt, which would include Chihli, Shantung, and Shanai.

Russians Active.
Semenoff, Nachele, and other Russians are active in Tientsin and elsewhere, recruiting whites to assist Gen. Chang Chung-chang to recover Shantung. Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, Nationalist generalissimo, and Gen. Yen Yuh-siang, the Christian general, are unable to dispatch troops against Gen. Chiang.

Foreigners in all regions are keenly alert to the possibility of mob violence should the local factions clash. The American legation is calm and exceedingly watchful.

HELD ON ROBBERY CHARGE.
Benjamin Jones, 35 years old, 515 West Madison street, was held to the grand jury in bonds of $10,000 on a robbery charge by Judge Peter H. Schmeidler yesterday. The prisoner was identified as one of two robbers who held up a restaurant last month and obtained $7.

GERMAN RIVERS GO ON RAMPAGE AS ICE THAWS
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
BERLIN, March 11.—The Rhine and Moselle rivers have changed from a land of hills and valleys with gentle streams into a countryside of churning lakes and turbulent torrents in the last three days after warm weather set in and thawed the heavy cover of ice accumulated in weeks of the bitterest cold experienced in close to a century.

In past weeks ice breakers have been chugging up and down the Rhine to prepare an outlet for the flood. It is from the mountainsides and from villages beside usually sleepy rivers that S. O. S. calls are reaching the reichswehr, local police, fire brigades, French-Belgian army engineering corps, and volunteer helpers.

AMERICAN NEGRO WEDS WEALTHY HUNGARIAN GIRL
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
BUDAPEST, Hungary, March 11.—John S. Sutherland, a dapper Negro from Minneapolis, Minn., gave Budapest society something to think about today when he married Baroness Edith von Greiner, the daughter of Baron von Greiner, a wealthy Hungarian statesman, and well known socially.

The marriage took place at a fashionable church here. The couple left immediately after the ceremony for Paris and will sail for the United States on their honeymoon soon.

The romance has been a hectic one since the day the couple met in a Paris night club and immediately fell in love with each other. The family of the baroness would not hear of the alliance and often told her that she would have to marry a man of her own color. After the baroness tried to commit suicide with an overdose of veronal, the family finally gave their consent to the marriage.

RED UPRISINGS MENACE CHINA; WARN AMERICANS

BY CHARLES DAILEY.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
PEKING, March 11.—China is charged with the grave possibility of communist uprisings and military clashes tomorrow, the anniversary of the death of Dr. Sun Yat-sen, the first president of China, when virtual martial law will be proclaimed in Peking, Hankow, Nanking, and elsewhere.

The American minister, John Van A. MacMurray, told American citizens on their departure for the interior that the original orders for their evacuation at the slightest sign of trouble remains effective.

The national congress will meet at Nanking Saturday. The left faction hopes for control.

EVERY PULPIT IN WISCONSIN WILL FIGHT FOR DRYS

Mass to Halt Repeal of Severson Act.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 11.—[Special.]—Professional dry forces in Wisconsin, bolstered by spellbinders and lecturers from all parts of the nation, will concentrate for the next three weeks in a campaign of education designed to defeat the referendum on April 2 by which the liberals seek to repeal the state prohibition law and remove the penalty on 2.75 per cent beer.

The Rev. Warren Jones, superintendent of the Wisconsin Anti-Saloon league, will direct the verbal barrage. Reached over the telephone today, the Rev. Jones explained why the Anti-Saloon league will oppose the questions to be submitted.

"To vote in favor of repeal," he says, "means the ultimate abolition of our Severson law, and Wisconsin has no other law by which it can control the criminal liquor traffic."

Regarding the referendum on removing the penalty for 2.75 per cent beer, he said: "This question primarily aims to nullify the purposes of the Volstead law by giving an alcohol content of beer different than the one-half of one per cent prescribed in the constitution. It would also mean that any officer arresting a person for manufacture, possession or transportation of 2.75 per cent beer would himself be subject to arrest for his action. For where the statutes do not regulate there is no basis upon which local enforcement agencies can act."

Wisconsin would become the home of the Chicago criminal liquor element if they had none but federal officers to fear, Mr. Jones believes.

"We would be the most helpless state in the union in coping with the liquor traffic if our state enforcement act is repealed," he declared. "Our Severson prohibition law repealed all local option laws, leaving us without a regulatory liquor law."

W. C. T. U. Maps Campaign.
Statistics on the increase of alcoholic deaths in the states which repealed their state enforcement acts may be the chief argument to be advanced by the Women's Christian Temperance union, according to Mrs. D. M. Healy, president of the Milwaukee county unit.

"To repeal our state prohibition law is to make a direct bid for a higher alcoholic death rate," Mrs. Healy declared. "Since New York abolished state enforcement its death rate from alcohol has been almost double the average of the entire United States. The Montana death rate has been three times the national average."

The Women's Christian Temperance union of Wisconsin will appeal to the voters of the state to observe April 2 as "patriots' day," Mrs. Healy said. Ministers of churches everywhere in the state will be asked to present the referendum issue to their congregation urging all to vote "no" on the two questions.

EVEN MICHIGAN DRYS REBEL AT LEAGUE LOBBYIST

Legislators in Move to Oust Holsapple.

Lansing, Mich., March 11.—[Special.]—Even the dry forces in the state legislature are becoming sickened of lobbying activities, in behalf of extreme measures, by Rev. R. N. Holsapple, superintendent of the Michigan Anti-Saloon league, it was disclosed here today, when it became known that a letter of protest is to be sent to Bishop Thomas Nicholson of Detroit, president of the state league.

Several legislators, who always have been classified as dry, are said to have signed the letter, criticizing Holsapple's work and intimating that the league would be doing itself a service if its chief lobbyist were removed from the capital.

Representative James McBridge of Shiawassee county is generally named as the leader of the group responsible for preparation of the protest and Representative Alex J. Cuthbertson of Flint, sponsor of the house "boot-legger" bill which would keep rum dealers under the life sentence provision of the criminal code, also is understood to be among signers of the letter.

Other dry legislators are said to have refused to sign it, although admitting sympathy for the movement to oust Holsapple. Some said they could not agree with all of the charges brought against the lobbyist. The general tone of the letter was that Holsapple's presence at the capital is tending to antagonize many legislators and to set them against any legislation, no matter what its merits, that he supports. It is understood that the letter has not been mailed as yet and that an effort will be made to obtain more signatures before it is sent to Bishop Nicholson.

It was also learned Monday that Howard Lawrence, secretary to Gov. Fred W. Green, has been engaged in correspondence with Bishop Nicholson, relative to the proposed amendment to the criminal code which is backed by the administration.

I KILLED, 14 HURT WHEN CROWDED "L" TRAINS CRASH

One person was killed, fourteen others were injured, traffic on four elevated lines was tied up for nearly an hour and two elevated coaches were all but demolished at 8 o'clock yesterday morning when a Humboldt Park train crashed into a waiting Logan Square train at the Marshallfield avenue elevated station.

Joseph Scaduto, 19 years old, 2841 North Sacramento boulevard, who suffered a compound skull fracture, a broken leg and internal injuries, was the death victim.

So terrific was the impact that the front of the Humboldt coach and the rear of the Logan Square coach were all but demolished. Passengers aboard the crowded trains, many of them clinging to straps, were thrown into the aisles. Women screamed and men fought to regain their feet and reach exits.

Firemen and Warren avenue police rescued the passengers and took the more seriously injured to the county and Presbyterian hospitals. Rapid Transit officials declared that the Humboldt train rounded a curve at such speed that it unavoidably crashed into the waiting Logan Square train. E. C. Nironowicz, 21 years old, a student, 118 North Ashland avenue, another of those seriously hurt, received internal injuries, cuts and bruises, but is expected to recover. It was said at the Presbyterian hospital.

Women Shift Blame for Stabbing of Mahoney, Actor

Los Angeles, Cal., March 11.—[Special.]—Police today terminated investigation of the mysterious stabbing of Will Mahoney, New York stage entertainer, at a party in the apartment of Lenore Casanova, New York show girl, last night. Mitchell Harris, actor, denied he did the stabbing but admitted he had waged a fist fight with Mahoney. "He knocked me out," Harris said, "and when I came to the ambulance had come for Mahoney and gone."

Miss Casanova, according to police, accused a Mrs. Corn Mahoney of stabbing Will. Mrs. Mahoney laid the stabbing to Miss Casanova.

NEW YORK, CHICAGO, MONTEVIDEO

WEEKLY CABINET SESSIONS SLATED BY EMMERSON

Hopes Round Table Will Speed His Policies.

BY PARKE BROWN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.] Springfield, Ill., March 11.—(Special.)—Regular weekly cabinet meetings to be held at a fixed hour on the same day each week probably will be instituted by Gov. Louis L. Emmerson.

Such a practice is unknown in the history of the state. After the passage of the administrative code under Lowden there were some cabinet conferences, but even they were irregular. And, under Small, department heads apparently never were called together except on occasions requiring discussion of some single topic of political importance, such as the raising of a campaign fund.

But Gov. Emmerson's idea is that a family round table will be of material assistance in carrying out administrative policies such as his plan for economy and in the exchange of ideas on the old theory that if two heads are better than one, a reasonable increase beyond two will bring added benefits.

Names Six of Eleven Directors.

The governor has considered the subject of regular cabinet meetings ever since his election, both before and since his inauguration; but several factors have prevented his putting it into effect. So far he has named only six of the eleven directors. The new men have been busy becoming acquainted with their departments, and the usual confusion of legislative activity has held up the solidification of the administration.

Gov. Emmerson has no thought of

WOMEN VOTERS GO TO SPRINGFIELD TO SEE HOW LAWS ARE MADE

Members of the board of directors of the Illinois League of Women Voters, left the Union station yesterday over the Chicago and Alton railroad for Springfield. Today and tomorrow they will attend "legislative citizenship school," observing the general assembly at work on measures the organization has endorsed. Accompanying the group were two women legislators, Mrs. Lottie Holman O'Neill, and Mrs. Flora Cheney. Tonight the board will entertain the seven women members of the assembly and the Springfield members of the league at a dinner at the Abraham Lincoln hotel.

Among the members of the party are: Miss Edith Rockwell, Mrs. R. B. Treadway, Mrs. D. M. Courson, Mrs. Quincy Wright, Mrs. W. Norman Graham, Mrs. Fred Lundie, Mrs. Alfred Kohn, Mrs. Frank Halas, Mrs. Sydney Stein, and Mrs. V. Dodge Simons Jr.

using the proposed cabinet session as a means of putting pressure behind his own bills. As matters now stand there are only two administration measures in addition to the budget before the assembly—the gasoline tax bill and the revised Barbour bills to place constitutional amendments on the big ballot. And he is confident of the success of both these.

The gas tax already has passed the senate by a big vote and although he has had no canvass made of the house he has said he is convinced there is a safe majority for it there.

Cured of Original Faults.

The Barbour bills, cured of the original faults by amendments, expected to pass tomorrow, probably will meet with little opposition in either house. Then the governor will consider himself in calm water except for the budget. His worry on this subject is said to be the large number of special appropriations sought by legislators for their districts.

But the only way the cabinet meeting would be used in connection with budget making would be to give the governor the opportunity to lay down the law uniformly that the pay rolls must be out.

There was some surprise expressed when it was learned that the Dunlap state patrol bill is not to be considered an administration measure. In his inaugural message Gov. Emmerson spoke of the great need of a state crime fighting force such as Senator Henry M. Dunlap of Savoy has provided for in his bill. But it is known now that the author of the bill acted entirely on his own initiative in this as in previous sessions.

Both houses resume operations tomorrow and some effort is being made to persuade them to vacate the hotels by Wednesday night to make room for the 1,500 delegates to three state utilities conventions expected to start arriving that night, but the assembly has planned to remain in session until it leaves on its annual visit to the University of Illinois Thursday afternoon.

Sound, uncrowded teeth
a strong, sturdy frame the time to build these is during the early years of life

This warning is being broadcast to mothers by physicians everywhere. "Do you know there is danger that your baby will not have the finely-shaped head you want him to have, the full chest, straight legs, and sound, uncrowded teeth that will not decay easily?"

"He must have special protection against the danger of soft, porous bones and poor teeth. Even the breast-fed baby must have it."

Nature provides two plentiful sources of this protective factor, Vitamin D. Sunshine and good cod-liver oil.

Direct sunshine would keep your baby safe, if he could get enough of it on his bare body. But this is not possible on account of clothing, clouds, fog and smoke. Even ordinary window glass filters out the rays that protect. The use of Bottled Sunshine—good cod-liver oil—then, is urged as the surest protection.

The country's leading specialists advise the use of Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil. They prefer it because they know they can depend on its rich vitamin content.

Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil is very rich in Vitamin D, the "sunshine vitamin" which helps to build good bones and teeth, and also in Vitamin A which promotes normal growth and increases resistance to infections.

When you choose Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil, you are using a vitamin-tested, vitamin-protected oil. Be sure to insist on Squibb's. At all reliable drug stores. Plain and Mint-flavored.

Trotsky Loses Respect; Reds Call Him "Mister"

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.] RIGA, Latvia, March 11.—According to the Moscow Pravda, Leon Trotsky has forfeited consideration at the hands of the world proletariat by selling a series of articles to the capitalist press, and the paper announces that in the future the soviet press will call him Mr. Trotsky instead of using the cherished title of "comrade."

BLENDED

to suit an expert's critical talent for flavor

OVER the coffee cups at the Maxwell House in the old days in Nashville, what romance, what talk of adventure, of art, business and affairs, went on!

For the flower of the South gathered at the high festivities at the Maxwell House and here her most illustrious guests were feted with all the warmth of traditional Southern hospitality.

"Marvelous Southern cooking—marvelous coffee," said the guests. They wanted the coffee to serve when they went back home. It seemed to them that they had never tasted coffee with so completely satisfying a flavor.

There was a reason for that: Maxwell House Coffee was "different." It was the triumph of an expert who dreamed a dream of better coffee flavor and made that dream come true.

He knew about coffees. The "winny" coffees of Arabia, the mild coffees of Java, the syrupy coffees of Brazil—he had roasted them all, but no one of them alone quite satisfied him. So he began to combine them. He had a talent for flavor and he worked for years testing, combining, re-combining flavors and shades of flavors.

At last he had it—a blend of such rich and subtle—such sparkling—harmony that it delighted even his critical palate.

Maxwell House guests spread abroad the fame of Maxwell House Coffee. Today it is known and preferred from coast to coast of the United States. "The Old Colonel" has lived to see the flavor he perfected in his youth become America's most popular coffee, pleasing more people than any other coffee ever offered for sale.

Wherever you are, your family may enjoy this particularly good, satisfying coffee, for your own grocer has it, sealed in the blue-wrapped tin which protects all its matchless fragrance and flavor.

Famous for Her Ever-Youthful Appearance.

"Reach for a Lucky and not for a sweet." That's been my policy ever since Luckies started—my way of retaining the figure I need to be known as the ever-youthful Fannie Ward. So I say to you women who want to cheat time as I have done, "Reach for a Lucky and not for a sweet."

FANNIE WARD

The modern common sense way—reach for a Lucky instead of a fattening sweet. Everyone is doing it—men keep healthy and fit, women retain a trim figure. Lucky Strike, the finest tobaccos, skilfully blended, then toasted to develop a flavor which is a delightful alternative for that craving for fattening sweets.

Toasting frees Lucky Strike from impurities. 20,679 physicians recognize this when they say Luckies are less irritating than other cigarettes. That's why folks say: "It's good to smoke Luckies."

Note: Authorities attribute the enormous increase in Cigarette smoking to the improvement in the process of Cigarette manufacture by the application of heat. It is true that during 1928, Lucky Strike Cigarettes showed a greater increase than all other Cigarettes combined. This confirms in no uncertain terms the public's confidence in the superiority of Lucky Strike.

LITTLE DRAMAS IN THE LIFE OF A GREAT NEWSPAPER SYSTEM

"So you won't give us her name, huh?
... what a story we'll make out of this!"

PAINTED FOR SCRIPPS-HOWARD NEWSPAPERS BY HERBERT M. STOOBS

A young business man took a young woman for an afternoon's ride in his airplane. On returning to the field he made a bad landing and was slightly injured. A friendly witness whisked the girl away in a car before the reporters got to the scene. The pilot gave them the facts, but withheld the name of his companion. And then the heckling began...

"Come clean now, who was she?... No use trying to cover up, give us the story... You'd better talk, or we'll draw our own conclusions

... and maybe the story won't be so pretty!" The Scripps-Howard paper, together with other reputable papers, printed the harmless facts in a short news item. But the story appeared elsewhere teeming with spicy details, packed with sly suggestions... "Love Nest in Sky... Mystery Romance in the Clouds"... etc., etc.

The Scripps-Howard papers print the news... all the news. But they do not inflate ordinary news items to give them a fictitious and sensational value. They are careful, as a matter of fairness, to give the other fellow the benefit of the doubt. They draw a line between gossip and news, between scandal and news, between obscenity and news.

If a man commits a misdeed, and a SCRIPPS-HOWARD Newspaper has the facts, it prints them. But it will not let imagination take the place of fact. One of the earliest and most rigid rules of E. W. Scripps was, "Fire the liar." It is still in force.

SUPREME COURT OF U. S. TO HEAR REMAPPING SUIT

U. S. Tribunal Asks for Record of Case.

A certified copy of the proceedings of the Circuit and the Illinois Supreme courts in the John B. Fergus injunction suit, to enjoin the salaries of legislators until they reapportion the state, will be mailed today to the United States Supreme court.

A request for the record came to Ray E. Lane, attorney for Mr. Fergus, from the clerk of the tribunal at Washington, yesterday. The lawyer interpreted the request as indicating that the court has granted his petition for a writ of certiorari to review the case. Mr. Lane said he will probably argue the case before the United States Supreme court in October.

Losses in State Courts.

Mr. Fergus, veteran battler for revision of the state's senatorial districts, sought the injunction on the theory that the legislators were not elected from legal districts. The Illinois Supreme court held that, while it was the constitutional duty of legislatures to reapportion, one branch of the government could not mandate another.

Yesterday was the last day for legislators to respond to Mr. Fergus' quo warranto proceedings to oust the law makers. Elmer J. Schnackenberg, representing twenty-five members of the Cook county delegation, filed a general demurrer in their behalf. It was pointed out that a contest is virtually necessary for a decree that will stand up in the Supreme court.

The demurrer sets up that the legislature is valid despite its failure to reapportion. A similar pleading was filed a few days ago by Attorney Harold L. Ickes in behalf of his wife, Mrs. Anna Wilmarth Ickes, a representative from Wilmette.

Downstate Fights Suit.

One hundred and two downstate legislators, through Attorneys Jesse Dock of Decatur and M. P. Rice of Lewiston, have entered a motion to strike the order of Circuit Judge Victor P. Arnold granting Mr. Fergus leave to file the quo warranto bill.

The motion sets up that the court lacks jurisdiction because the legislature is judge of its own elections, and that deputy sheriffs had no right to serve members with subpoenas while the law makers are in session. Eight members have escaped service.

Harry M. McCaskin, representative from Rock Island, has filed a pleading in his own behalf, setting up that he is immune from quo warranto as a result of former Gov. Len Small's immunity bill.

Judge Arnold has set a hearing on the proceedings for March 22.

Help!

a cry that is heard around the world

A STRICKEN village—people sick—medicine needed at once—trackless wastes of snow to cross—but one method of transport available—A native volunteers and the whole world thrills as he and his faithful huskies mush to the rescue. What is it that will cause the world to rise en masse at these little dramas of life while it views with apparent indifference a tragedy of disease that exacts the lives of over 300,000 people annually? Is the death of so many men, women and children less tragic because they die of a social disease? Is the condemning of thousands of men, women and children to hospitals, insane asylums and lives of wretchedness less appalling because of a social disease? Is it of no consequence that 50% of our young unmarried men are infected before they reach 30 years of age?

While the Public Health Institute is making an organized effort to relieve this alarming situation the social disease problem is everybody's problem. Everyone can help in carrying out the work of prevention. Parents can educate their children to the dangers of social disease and how they can be avoided. Individuals can see their family doctors. Employers can display the posters of the Public Health Institute in the washrooms of their shops or stores, and trained speakers are available to address groups of all kinds.

With this kind of co-operative effort, serious as they are, social diseases would come under control. The Public Health Institute offers a reliable medical service for the diagnosis and treatment of social diseases. Thirty-four registered physicians and facilities that have taken care of as many as 2,000 patients in one day are available. Operated not for profit, the fees are within the reach of all. Treatments are available even to those without immediate funds.

The Public Health Institute has three separate clinics in Chicago. The Departments for Men are located at 159 North Dearborn Street—just North of Randolph and 129 East Thirty-first Street—Corner of Indiana Avenue.

The Department for Women and Children is located at 72 East Randolph Street (2nd floor) between Wabash and Michigan Avenues—(All clinic) hours, 10 A. M. to 3 P. M. Daily Except Sunday. Phone Central 9383.

The latest Publishers' Statements to the Audit Bureau of Circulations, furnished by the women's magazines (and which statements were recently released), show that Pictorial Review's total net paid average circulation for the last six months of 1928 was 2,523,384

This was but 15,028 less circulation than the Ladies' Home Journal, which had the largest total.

However, in the United States and Canada, Pictorial Review had the largest average circulation during that same period.

At the present time, the advertising rate of Pictorial Review is $1,000 less per page than that of our chief contemporary, and, as recently announced, all advertisers using a reasonable schedule of space during 1929 will be protected at this low advertising rate for all space they may wish to run in 1930.

Right now, Pictorial Review, therefore, offers an extraordinary advertising value and deserves your immediate consideration.

A capacity crowd of 10,000 tonight will see whether or not Tom Heeneey, the Han, Rock from New Zealand, is as durable as he is her-aided. Otto Von Porat, a hard punching heavy-weight from Norway, will do the testing. The bout will be held at Coliseum.

Promoter James C. Mullen estimates that the receipts will amount to $50,000. If the remaining tickets are sold, this will be Mullen's fourth straight sellout.

Tonight's card has stirred more interest among Chicago's fight fans than any heavy-weight attraction since the Dempsey-Tunney battle at Soldiers' field.

Fighters at Peak Form.

Von Porat and Heeneey wound up preparation yesterday by engaging in light gymnasium workouts. They skipped the rope, punched the bag and shadow boxed. They will appear at the office of the boxing commission this afternoon at 3 o'clock to submit to physical examinations and be weighed. Ed Stephenson, manager of Von Porat, and Charley Harvey, Heeneey's pilot, pronounced their fighters in the best of shape and each predicted a victory.

Von Porat ruled a 6 to 5 favorite in the betting yesterday. The Norwegian will have a seven inch edge in reach and four inches in height. He has developed a good left hand since his last appearance in Chicago. Many of the boxing sharpies are betting on Von Porat to win by a knockout.

Mercurio to Box Fitzsimmons.

It shapes up as a real battle. Von Porat is trying to climb into the contender class and Heeneey is staging a comeback which he hopes will give him another chance to meet the best heavy-weight in the running for Tunney's vacant throne.

Phil Mercurio, New York heavy-weight and a stablemate of Heeneey, will meet Red Fitzsimmons of Wichita, Kas., in the eight round semi-windup. My Sullivan, the St. Paul welterweight, and Clyde Chasman of Dallas, Tex., will clash in one of the six round openers.

Chuck Benoit, a Tribune Golden Gloves winner a year ago, and King Levinsky of the west side will open the show in a four round engagement. The other fights on the card will bring together Jack Herman and Johnny Sherrod, local middleweights, and Alberto Palumbo of Italy and Brownie Turman of Oklahoma City.

Barney Ross Has

Barney Ross, who will be Chicago's representative in the 126 pound class in the intercity amateur bouts with New York at Madison Square Garden on March 27, is a product of Jack Ellis, boxing instructor at the Edmille Health club.

Barney started to box three years ago. Although a novice at the start, he displayed the grit and determination which has produced champions in many lines of athletic activity. He developed a left hand, the big asset of the amateur. He learned how to punch with his right. The result was the winning of the featherweight title in THE Tribune's Golden Gloves tournament at the Coliseum this winter.

"Ross is a self-made boxer," Jack Ellis said yesterday. "When he came to our club he showed little ability. He was willing to learn and never flinched when he was hit. I showed him how to jab and hook with his left and how to clinch. He has a fairly good right and I showed him how to execute the one-two punch. It was his willingness to learn and master the fine points of the game that made him the 126 pound champion of THE Tribune tournament."

Barney is twenty years of age and is training every day at the Edmille Health club.

Other members of THE Tribune team settled down to intensive training at other gymnasiums where they will be given expert instruction. Arrangements have been made with Dave Barry of the Barry gymnasium for the boxers to work with any of the professionals and receive the proper treatments after their workouts.

Robins Suspect Skullduggery
in Pirate Deal

Clearwater, Fla., March 11.—(Special.)—Uncle Wilbert Robinson this afternoon told before President John Heydler of the National league the facts in the Glenn Wright case and requested the league executive to conduct an investigation into the deal which sent Wright to the Robins.

The lame arm which Wright developed his first day in camp was revealed today to be the result of a handball injury suffered by Wright in Pittsburgh last November when he crashed into a brick wall. Uncle Robbie contends this condition was known to the Pittsburgh club, and he intimated to President Heydler today the deal was made for this reason.

Wright, in Miami today to consult further with Dr. Cecil Ferguson, the noted bone specialist, was optimistic about his condition and his belief in an early recovery was substantiated by Dr. Ferguson.

Reports have trickled back here that Wright's arm is gone and will never be the same. This was denied by Uncle Robbie today. The Brooklyn boss said he was informed of the handball accident a few days ago but preferred to remain silent about it until after Wright had a chance to consult Dr. Ferguson. Uncle Robbie said he would ask President Heydler to cancel the Wright for consultation. Robbie said if further consultation reveals Wright's arm is permanently dead.

Dr. Ferguson's report in Wright's condition as phoned from Miami today is as follows:

"The tendons around Wright's shoulder were displaced and adhered to wrong spot in healing. I tore them loose this morning and replaced them properly."

During the four day stay in Los Angeles, Blake, Malone, Root and Carlson, regulars, were cheated out of a chance to work; but they will be given plenty to do to make up for the lost time.

BOUNTING MAIN
WITH OUR CUBSGet Seasick on Return to Avalon.BY EDWARD BURNS.
(Chicago Tribune From Service.)

Avalon, Cal., March 11.—Joe McCarthy, who is a much better man on land than he is on the sea, led his landlubbers Cubs over 26 miles of rough rolling and pitching Pacific this morning to get back to Catalina island.

Some of the brethren weren't thinking much about National league pennants when the flagship of the Wrigley fleet finally docked at Avalon. But seasickness isn't an everlasting ailment, and Joe expects to have his boys back on their feet in time to play an intracub game of ball tomorrow afternoon. There will be another game Wednesday, which virtually will wind up the work at Catalina for this year.

Thursday afternoon the club will return to Los Angeles following a very light spell of calisthenics in the morning and from then on it will be just one exhibition game after another, until April 15, when the boys reach the home port for a day of rest before the opener of the season.

Keep Rookies in Camp.

Manager McCarthy brought all the rookies back to the island with him and the paring process still is a matter of the indefinite future. With fewer than a half dozen athletes to bounce, Joe hasn't much to worry about in the matter of reducing his team.

The trip to Los Angeles, just finished, was not worth the effort, what with the boyish antics of the umpire on Saturday night, the deluge of Saturday night when several of the athletes became marooned in taxicabs in two feet of water while endeavoring to navigate one of the principal thoroughfares, and last, but most distressing, the voyage across the channel.

One old author who claims to have crossed the channel 147 times, without ever batting an eye, was the first to go down and the other members of the party followed in fast succession.

They All Get Sick.

Capt. Charlie Grimm was one of the early victims. "One hundred and fifty dollars for a horse and buggy right now," Charley groaned.

One of the few pleasing features of the trip was the experience of Pat Malone. Pat had boasted of being a hearty mariner and when Gabby Hartman began to waver, Pat kept saying: "Stay up and get a drink," laughing at the while. Well, you can guess what happened to Mr. Pat a little farther out.

Danny Taylor was the hardest hit of all and over his head he was suspended, the birdie singing happily.

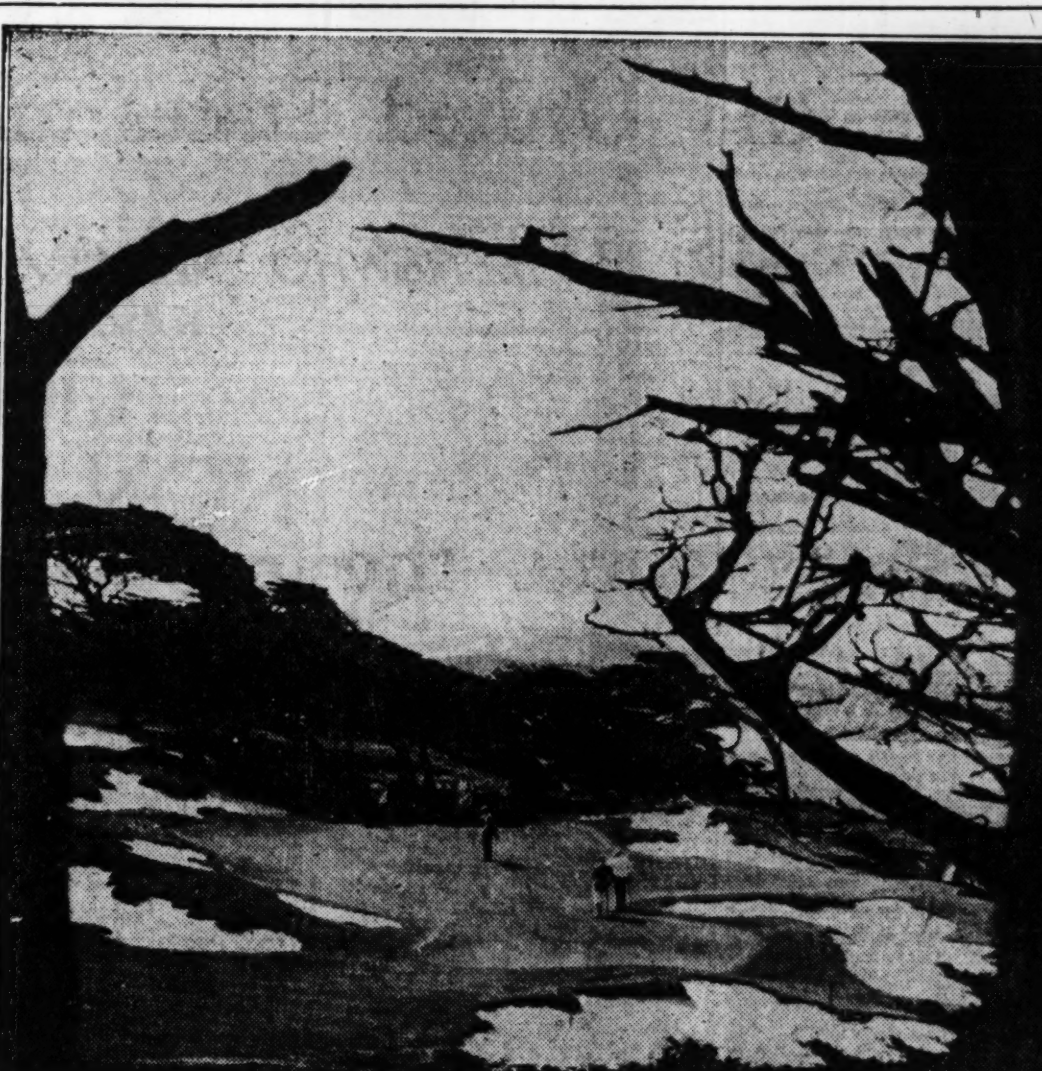

"Wring that damned sparrow's neck; then shoot me," Danny entreated of the stewards who were ministering to him. But they let 'em both live.

Horne's Stock Booms.

While the trip to Los Angeles established nothing particularly startling in the way of baseball other than that Art Nehf isn't ready and that Eddie Lautenbacher isn't a finished performer by a long way, there were some pleasant diamond moments during the one or two-thirds game played on the mainland.

Trader Horne strengthened the suspicion that he is the most likely of the rookie pitchers and Rogers Hornsby, who drove in seven runs with two homers, showed he is in shape to again accept the assignment of leading the National league in batting.

Sox Ax Swings and 6 Rookies
Are Detached

Dallas, Tex., March 11.—(Special.)—Discovered a major league manager who doesn't mind a little thing like a rainstorm. The fact that it rained here today was not disconcerting to Lena Blackburne, White Sox chief. In fact, when last seen Lena was pulling for rain and more of it.

"What's the big idea?" somebody asked.

"Let it rain," laughed the energetic manager. "The gang deserves a day off after the way we've been going down here. You know, I don't believe in getting along too fast. And we've got more than a month to go before the opening."

So the south sliders found it most convenient to play rummily and pinochle. Some of them ventured out to a picture show. Willie Kamm and Grady Adkins nursed charley horses. Bill Cissell rested his weary back, while Johnny Mostil put the finishing touches on a healing toe.

The paring knife was wielded with particular viciousness, when six of the young men who have been enjoying big league company were severed from the club. Four of them, Leslie Cox, Irving Jeffries, Eli Ward, and Elgin Wilson, were placed with the Dallas club. William Wisniewski and Martin Ehlers were given places with the Palestine club of the Lone Star league.

At the current rating, Jeffries, a right fielder, is most apt to return for more inspection. The other five youngsters are pitchers.

CRANE DEFEATS
LINDBLOM, 23-17,
IN TITLE GAMEFree Throws Margin of West Side Victory.

Led by the tall, slim Joe Reiff, Crane Tech's basketball team last night won its second successive heavy-weight championship of the City Public High School league at the Broadway armory. Reiff and his co-workers defeated Lindblom, 23 to 17, before more than 5,000 spectators.

The championship was decided by free throws, for both quintets tossed seven baskets. But Crane's advantage was more pronounced than that. Coach Sam Lifschultz boys dashed a more polished attack and displayed a keener knowledge of the game.

Crane's Pivot Play Effective.

Even though Lindblom was getting the jump at center, Crane succeeded in capturing the ball most of the time. The south sliders lacked a defensive for the shot play in which Reiff was the key, with Frank and Brakeman whirling around him in quick cut backs.

With Reiff held without a basket in the first half the game was a tossup, the score being 12 all at the intermission. Crane was ahead, 6 to 5, at the first quarter.

In the third quarter Reiff looked the hoop and tossed three baskets, which gave Crane a lead it never relinquished. The third period ended, 21 to 15, and though Thompson opened the final quarter with a goal Crane's lead was 19 to 15.

Crane's lead was 19 to 15. Thompson's basket turned the tables, but free throws by Melino and Reiff gave Crane its 6 to 5 margin at the quarter.

Lindblom Takes Lead.

Reiff shot two free throws soon after the start of the second quarter and Frank gave Crane a four point lead with a goal. Then Johnson's free throw and baskets by Barak and Thompson gave Lindblom a 10 to 9 edge. Reiff tied it a moment later and Melino's basket put Crane ahead. Thompson dropped in a one-handed shot to even the count at 12 as the gun sounded.

At the start of the third period Reiff tossed a basket, Melino added a free throw, and Frank scored a goal. Reiff's free throw followed one by Johnson, enabling Crane to hold a six point lead, 18 to 13. Then Johnson sank a basket, and Reiff again came through with a goal, the period ending 21 to 15.

Thompson intercepted a pass and counted on a push up, but that ended Lindblom's scoring. Then came free throws by Frank and Reiff and the final whistle. Lineup:

CRANE (23)	LINDBLOM (17)
Frank 3	Johnson 2
Reiff 2	Barak 1
Thompson 3	Thompson 1
Melino 1	Melino 1
Brakeman 1	Brakeman 1

New York, March 11.—(Special.)—Jimmy Slattery of Buffalo, lightweight, suffered a decisive setback at Madison Square Garden tonight, when James J. Braddock of New Jersey scored a victory over him by a technical knockout in the ninth round of their scheduled ten round bout.

For the Buffalo playboy, it was a point less than 13 to 13. Then Johnson sank a basket, and Reiff again came through with a goal, the period ending 21 to 15.

MAJOR SEGRAVE SETS MARK AT DAYTONA BEACHBriton Triumphs as Thousands Cheer.

DON'T TRY THIS!

You have driven the ten miles from Evanston to the Chicago river many times. Maj. Segrave's world record set yesterday at Daytona Beach is visualized when you realize his car would have covered this distance in 2 minutes and 35 seconds.

Daytona Beach, Fla., March 11.—(Special.)—Maj. H. O. D. Segrave, English racing driver, this afternoon established a new world's automobile speed record when he drove his 300 horse power Golden Arrow car over the beach course at an average speed of 131.36246 miles an hour.

His record equals by 23.8 miles an hour the record of 207.55 miles an hour made here last April 22 by Ray Keech in the 1,500 horse power Triplex built by J. M. White of Philadelphia.

Segrave made his record breaking run in the presence of thousands of spectators who stood upon the dune along the entire nine mile course and literally packed the area bordering the measured mile.

Crowd Cheers Result.

Announcement of his victorious assault upon the record was greeted by cheers that ran the length of the speedway as the news of his feat spread by word of mouth.

Taking a four mile rolling start Segrave made his first run north of the record at a speed of 231.511 miles an hour. The elapsed time was 15.51 seconds. Less than fifteen minutes later he returned southward with the cross wind slightly against him in 15.56 seconds, at 231.2187 miles an hour over the measured mile.

Segrave set his course by red butte lights suspended over the middle of the course and two lights on his car, one a device of crossed wires in a circle on the nose of the car, the other a rear naked light. He directed the telescopic sight with which the car had been equipped.

Lights Save Machine.

"Those bullseye lights and the sight on the car saved me," he said tonight. "The visibility was poor on the beach was difficult. Before going on this job today, I had a foreboding thing would not go right. Everything had gone so well beforehand, under the engineering of Capt. Irving and the management of William Sturges, my American manager, and then I saw the course I said to myself that the beach was going to turn me over."

Segrave said, however, that the new machine feeling before the trials was one of nervous excitement induced largely by the announcements that he would try for a new record.

"I found myself thinking how foolish I'd look if I didn't do it, and so I decided, since people were expecting it of me, that I'd go even if conditions were not right."

Soft Spots Slow Car.

"In fact," he added, "I have a feeling of disappointment over this job today. The car is good for 340 miles an hour but I could not get that out of it today. The beach was not nearly as good as it was two years ago when I made 237.7 miles an hour with the Sunbeam. On each run today I ran through eleven patches of water where I left tracks a half inch deep. These soft places slowed me up and made steering difficult."

Segrave said he ended his last run today with the right lateral radiator cracked its length, which will make impossible another run for a day or two, even if he decides to try for a higher record.

On his run northward, he said, he struck a bump that nearly hurled him from the cockpit. A tap was lodged from the cooling system and he completed this run with water spraying his face.

Wife Hides Face.

Segrave's wife sat in a box under the judge's stand during the trials. "But I did not look while he was running for the record," she said tonight. "I hid my face. I never prayed so hard in my life," she added. Segrave said he had not yet decided whether to try for a new record.

MOON MULLINS—THE LIFE OF THE PARTY

Peters, Haas Menace Lead
of Chicagoans in A. B. C.

The Chicago team of W. Theusen and R. Phillips was still leading the doubles last night in the American bowling congress tourney at the Dex ter Park pavilion. The only pair to menace the mark of 1,234 was G. Pe terson and P. Haas of Burlington, Ia., who rolled 1,211.

Peterson's best game was a 219 in the last. His other two efforts re sulted in 156 and 183. Haas came through with marks of 171, 242, and 236.

G. Genal and A. Fuhs of Oshkosh, Wis., rolled 1,201 and tied with Chiebeck and E. Kouba of Chicago for fifth. W. Gierhahn and J. Pecho ria of Chicago took eighth place with a score of 1,195.

Oliva Rolls 656.
In the singles C. Oliva of Burling ton, Ia., totaled 656 and tied with W. Danowski of Detroit for fifth.
He had marks of 217 and 249 in his first two games, but dropped to 189 in his last effort. A 652 score by J.
White, Sioux City, Ia., put him in seventh.

James A. Wilson, president of the American bowling congress, will ar rive here from his home in New York by airplane. He will land at 8:40 this morning.

The standings in the all-events show R. Adams of Battle Creek, Mich., high man with a 1801 score.
L. Blackmore of the same town is one point behind. Cook of Cincinnati, third ranking bowler in the singles, is also third in all-events, with a 1793 mark. The only other to rank among the first ten in more than one stand ing is P. H. H. of Burlington, Ia., who, besides having a 172 count for fourth in the all-events, ranks second along with G. Peterson in the doubles.

McAnn Scores Six Strikes.
The first five man squad of the day,
Commonwealth Edison, took six drives at 8 o'clock. It was a booster group, as indicated by the scores turned in. Not a five shot over the 2000 mark. Raymond McAnn of the Crawford No. 1 team rolled a string

Big 10 Swim

The most brilliant array of swim mers that ever competed in a col lege meet will battle it out in the conference championships at Bartlett gymnasium Friday and Saturday eve ning. It is not impossible that every conference and national collegiate re cord will be smashed, and world's re cords in the 160 yard relay and the 300 yard medley relays are within the range of the Big Ten stars.

Northwestern, with a team that holds seven national collegiate re cords, and Michigan, defending cham pion, are the contenders for the title.
The margin, despite the greater num ber of individual stars on the Purple team, figures to be close, for Michi gan is better fortified with place men.
The conference rule that limits a man to three events, including relays, op erates in favor of Michigan, for North western will have to put its stars in the two relay events, which count double, leaving the best Purple swim mer only one other event to compete in.

Another factor in the big gamble that faces Coach Matt Man of Michi gan and Tom Robinson of Northwest ern is the fancy diving. Wally Col bath of the Purple holds both the con ference and national collegiate titles, but Capt. Heine Groh of Illinois is not unlikely to displace him. If that happens, and Walatals of Michigan, who was second last year, can place the margin of victory is certain to be slight.

Chicago, Wisconsin, and Illinois figure to be the three teams that will fight for third position. These three combined do not promise to make as many points as the winning team. All schools in the conference, except Ohio, which does not have a swimming team, will compete in the meet.

55 ILLINOIS H. S. TEAMS CONTINUE RACE FOR TITLE

Beginning Thursday night at eight sectional schools 55 prep quintets will continue the race which began a week ago for the Illinois basketball cham pionship. The 55 schools, all district winners, are survivors of the 719 teams which entered the district meets.

The eight sectional winners will meet in the final tournament next week at the University of Illinois to determine the title.

Canton, Illinois champion last year and runner-up to Ashland, Ky., in the University of Chicago national tourna ment, won its preliminary meet. This week, however, it will face such teams as Peoria Central and Galesburg in the Peoria tournament.

Peoria, a high school with only 15 boys enrolled and winner of the Pas ton district championship, carries its fight for state honors into the Dan field tournament where the Champaign team and the Danvers five, the sur prise of the normal district, are en tered.

Harrison of Chicago with an enroll ment of 5,000 was the largest school to survive the first round of play.
The Chicago team is entered in the Joliet sectional meet, clashing with Joliet in the first game of the tourna ment.

WHEN STOCKS MAKE PAGE 1 SHIFT IS DUE

Past Action Bears Out Theory.

BY O. A. MATHER.

It is almost tradition that the tenor of the securities markets is due for a change about the time their antics become as pronounced as to be the subject of front page newspaper attention. Some interesting history along this line is offered in the current issue of the Chicago Tribune Survey. Again during February the stock market made the front page, the survey says. "There is significance in this, for when the market makes a change from page 27 to page 1 of the leading American dailies it is almost inevitable that great drama has been enacted. Running back through the time news for a few days when Wall Street's doings were reported on page 1 the morning after that eventful day in 1901 when Northern Pacific, cornered, shot up 800 points a day. Again the market was in the news for a few days when Augustus Heinze's stock, United States, collapsed, precipitating the panic of 1907.

Corner in Stutz.

"The closing of the exchange in 1914 to prevent an avalanche of sales, showing the declaration of war, was reported on the outside of the news- papers. Allan Ryan's corner of Stutz in 1920 was the same sort of thing, and so was the collapse of the stock market a few days later. The volume of trading and wild swings in prices of a few securities, were deemed to be news of first importance.

February Appearance of the Stock Market in the Headlines Differed a Good Deal from All These Other Instances.

"The February appearance of the stock market in the headlines differed a good deal from all these other instances when the market was in the news. Nothing dramatic had happened in the market itself. There was no corner or a credit pinch. It was because the federal reserve bank had adopted a policy the central point of which was opposition to further increases in credit to be extended to stock market operators. "It is regarded unlikely that there will be any drastic decline in security prices, however. Neither the banks, which are large lenders on securities, nor the big corporations, which are large lenders and owners, will readily liquidation. The reserve bank would be reluctant to impose such high discount rates because such action would hamper commerce, financing and have adverse political effect.

Effect on Commerce.

"We conclude the stock market of moving months will not be the main reason of last fall and winter. The survey reasons. "On the one hand, vast activity as a result of speculation is precluded by the fact mentioned. On the other hand, raising market would be tolerated by the federal reserve. If the stock market quiets down the effect on commerce should be helpful. Business will be better than it otherwise could be for the reason that business men pursue their major interests unhampered by distractions of the securities markets.

Predict Copper and Lead Prices Will Go Higher

"As to the general business of the country, it is proceeding in highly satisfactory manner. The year so far has kept the pace of a flying start, the survey finds. In these opening months of the year, when in a wide range of commerce and in the country business is almost inevitably the rule, business activity has been unusually well sustained."

Favors More Information in Corp. Reports

BY SCRUTATOR.

How far a corporation should go in letting its stockholders know, in its annual reports, the exact status of the business is a matter that provokes a variety of opinion. Generally speaking, such reports are meager. They give the corporation's earnings for the year, state what proportion each share earned and mention some of the forward steps that have been taken toward building for more success. The consolidated statements are added to show the manner in which distributions have been made and how the assets and liabilities stand.

Some concerns give rather complete statements, the United States Steel corporation for one. They go even so far as to show how much of their stock is held by investors, speaking in the strictest sense of the term, and how much is in the hands of brokers. Necessary, say the critics, to write simply. But with all the business acumen that is possessed by the managements of large companies, it seems they would be logical for them, when they have nothing to conceal, to write primers; some form of statement that would not require an accountant to understand it.

Limits Reply.

The matter was presented yesterday to the attention of Rollin A. Wilbur, of Cleveland, president of the Investment Bankers Association of America, who is in Chicago to address the central states group of his organization to-night at the Blackstone hotel. Mr. Wilbur limited his reply so that it would apply only to companies which are seeking to finance themselves by the sale of securities. When a company asks money of the public, he held, the person contemplating a purchase is entitled to specific information.

For an industrial corporation offering securities the following are the points named: a description of the industry, the company's position in the industry, a detailed description of the property owned, with capacity, and some measure of output; an understandable balance sheet with comments on inventory and working capital; earnings by years, not averages, and statements of depreciation; a showing of the security for the issue, and the purpose of it and—in the case of stocks—a statement of the voting rights and provisions for the protection of the minority.

"Our association has 700 members, and we estimate that these firms originate 90 per cent of all capital issues, measured in money value, in this country," said Mr. Wilbur.

"We see that every issue advertised follows these lines. If the circulars do not comply with the rules, the firm issuing is communicated with. No police action is undertaken, but we find that operation solves the problem and members are anxious to aid in giving the investor full information."

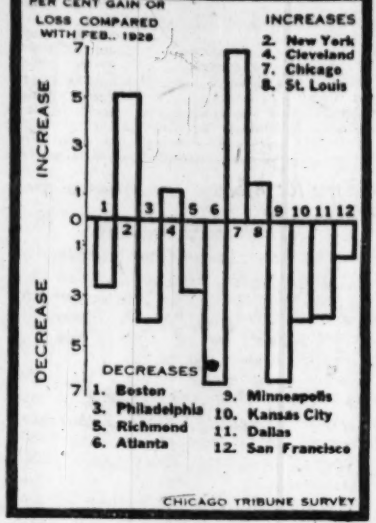

Opportunity to Stop Fraud.

The organization, he added, was engaged in an effort to have the post-office department appropriate a half million dollars for more inspectors to run down violators of the blue sky laws. The legislation in most states is sufficiently drastic, but the government has the best opportunity to stop fraud through the postal laws, he said. "Mr. Wilbur seemed to feel that it would be quite difficult to give an individual stockholder a report on a company that would be both simple and complete in its financial details, but that the concerns selling securities should, on the dollars and cents as well as the ethical basis, be sure that full protection be given the purchaser."

Federal Reserve Board Reports That Chicago District Department Stores in February Again Led Country in Sales Gain

WALL ST. HEARS STEWART MAY GET REFINING CO. JOB

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 11.—It was rumored in Wall street today that the Atlantic Refining company is about to offer an important post to Col. Robert W. Stewart, deposed chairman of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana. The reports were without official confirmation, but some well informed sources were inclined to regard the move as entirely logical. There was some activity in the stock of Atlantic Refining company, with a substantial price gain in the early trading.

It is expected that if an offer is made to Col. Stewart a special position will be created for him, as there are no vacancies in the Atlantic Refining company's executive staff at present.

In some quarters the move is regarded as extremely probable in view of the previous association between Col. Stewart and interests connected with Blair & Co., Inc. Rockefeller interests sold their holdings to the Blair group last year, giving the latter house a little less than 20 per cent of the 500,000 shares outstanding, or virtual control. With the Rockefeller trust there could be no objection from that quarter.

Says Proper Marketing Is Solution for Independents

Proper marketing of his goods is the solution of the small merchants' problem of competing with the chain store organizations, O. F. Benz of New York told the Biscuit Sales Promotion club yesterday at the Palmer house. The chain store scare is destined to pass as the mail order house scare of a decade ago did, he asserted.

Auto Installment Growth Seen in Annual Report

New York, March 11.—(P)—General Motors Acceptance corporation, the credit merchandising subsidiary of General Motors, in its annual statement today, reported total volume of business for 1928 of $97,675,575, an increase of $134,555,698 over 1927. Net profit for the year was $19,379,453.01.

DIVIDEND NEWS IS FEATURED BY STOCK PAYMENT

S.E. Power Co. Drops Cash Plan.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 11.—Thomas W. Martin, president of the Southeastern Power and Light company, announced today that dividends on the common stock would be paid in stock hereafter at the rate of 1 per cent quarterly instead of cash, as heretofore. The annual dividend return to stockholders under the new dividend policy would be $3.32 a share, figuring the stock at today's market of $3, instead of $1 in cash.

Mr. Martin explained that the directors had concluded it would be to the best interest, both of the company and of stockholders, to retain for investment in its subsidiaries the funds which heretofore it has been customary to disburse as cash dividends. The first such payment will be made on April 20 to stockholders of record March 30.

Vote Rights.

Simultaneously it was announced that consolidated earnings of Southeastern, after liberal reductions for reserves and depreciation, amounted to about $3.45 a share on the common stock for the year ended Dec. 31. Dividends to holders of the voting trust certificates will be paid in free stock.

The Swedish Match company will distribute dividends of 15 per cent for 1928, the same rate as in 1927, according to a news dispatch. Rights to subscribe for additional stock have been voted by Rainbow Luminous Products, Inc., to holders of both classes of common stock. By this offer, which follows closely on authorization of an increase in class A stock from 100,000 to 200,000 shares and in class B stock, from 200,000 to 400,000 shares, the company will raise $2,500,000 new capital.

A block of 25,000 shares of class A and 50,000 shares of class B stock will be offered to class A holders and a block of like size to class B holders in units of one share of A and two shares of B, at $70 per unit.

On $4 Basis.

Coca Cola International corporation declared an initial common dividend of $2 a share quarterly, placing the stock on an $8 basis. On Jan. 30 a dividend of 10 per cent on class A stock was paid. Prior to that dividend had been at a rate of $12 annually.

The National Casket company declared a semi-annual dividend of $2 share on the common, placing the stock on a $4 basis, and a stock dividend of 5 per cent. Previously the company paid $1.50 semi-annually on the common. Canadian Cannery, Ltd., declared an initial dividend of 12 1/2 cents a share on the common, the regular quarterly $1.50 on the 6 per cent cumulative first preferred and a quarterly 20 cents on the convertible preference stock.

CUBA TRADES LESS WITH U. S.; MORE IN EUROPEAN MARKETS

HAVANA, March 11.—(P)—The statistical section of the department of finance published figures today indicating that Cuba's trade with England and Spain is increasing, while business with the United States is falling off. Exports totaling $202,535,106 last year were $53,607,532 less than the preceding year.

Imports from England and Spain decreased by approximately $2,000,000 in the aggregate, but exports to these countries showed an increase. England's purchases from Cuba in 1928 were $45,325,499, or $12,707,717 more than the total purchases in 1927.

REPORT G. M. C. TO PAY $29,000,000 FOR GERMAN CO.

Sloan of General Motors company, arrived in the Rhinehland factory town of Russelsheim, headquarters of the Opel works, to carry through a purchase of the majority of the Opel company, Germany's biggest automobile concern.

According to the Telegraph Union news service, Mr. Sloan requested several changes in the contracts prepared for his signature, but the purchase contracts were filed with a notary this afternoon. The Telegraph Union mentioned the purchase price as $29,000,000.

AUTOMOTIVE EXPORTS ARE HIGHER IN JAN.

Washington, D. C., March 11.—(P)—American automotive exports, which have been setting new high records for several months, continued their pace during January.

The commerce department reported today the month's exports of such goods amounted to $47,563,655, an increase of better than 48 per cent above January of 1928 and about 20 per cent above December.

Passenger cars constituted the largest single item making up the total. For January 24,631 machines valued at $17,871,000 were sent abroad.

Will Not Interfere with U. S. Reserve Board: Mellon

Washington, D. C., March 11.—(P)—Secretary Mellon does not intend to interfere in any way with the policy of the federal reserve board in trying to restrain the use of federal reserve credit in speculation. Reports were transmitted to him that rumors were being circulated on the New York stock exchange that the secretary intended to ask the board to reverse its speculative credit policy. Mr. Mellon then stated that he has no thought of making such a request of the board and is not contemplating issuing a statement on credit conditions.

American Woolen Co. Operates at Loss in 1928

New York, March 11.—(P)—American Woolen company, rated as the leading cloth manufacturer, with mills chiefly in New England, and its subsidiaries today reported a net loss of $1,862,263 for 1928, contrasted with a net profit of $600,112 in 1927.

BY FRED HARVEY.

New York, March 11.—With talk of higher discount rates filling the air the stock market was unable to "cash in" on the sudden easing of credit conditions today and the final table was a monotonous chronicle of minus signs. Losses among the more active leaders ranged from 2 to 8 points. Only a baker's dozen or so of bulls were able to make headway against the frequent selling waves which swept the market.

The call rate, which had renewed at 3 per cent, dropped to 7 per cent in the early afternoon. Bullish demonstrations in a number of sectors helped to firm up the tone for a time but the selling was renewed in short order and a good proportion of stocks closed at their lowest levels of the day.

Special Meeting.

Traders heard early in the day that a special meeting of the federal reserve board of this district may be held tomorrow and the general assumption was that the long feared advance of the discount rate would again be up for discussion. Predictions of an advance of the Chicago rate at the meeting of the board there and probably a jump in the Minneapolis rate were other disquieting factors.

Then there was a budget of somewhat depressing trade news, including the American Woolen company's report for 1928—the poorest in its history—and the disappointing steel figures made public over the week-end. The drop in the demand rate took the speculative community by surprise, having come sooner than was generally expected, and perhaps it was due to this that there was a lessened demand for funds. The time money market was firm and commercial paper rates were also. As one observer expressed it, there evidently is "plenty of money lying around but the banks are opposed to lending it at this time."

WINTERFRONT CO. VOTES MELLON IN EXPANSION MOVE

Chicago Stock List Prices Range Lower.

BY GEORGE HAMMOND.

A juicy "melon," part of a recapitalization plan to provide for expansion to meet the needs of the automobile industry, was voted stockholders of the Winterfront company by the directors yesterday. Based on the closing price of 204 a share on the Chicago exchange, the melon is worth $12,800,000.

The directors voted to increase the present 100,000 shares of "A" and "B" stock to 500,000 shares of $25 par value stock. A stockholders' meeting to vote on the proposal has been called for April 5. After the ratification of the present stock will be exchanged on a share for share basis and rights issued to stockholders of record April 15 to purchase two additional new shares for each share held at $11 a share.

On New Basis.

The 300,000 shares of capital stock then to be outstanding will be placed on a $1 annual basis, equivalent to the $3 now paid on the "A" and "B" stocks. In addition, the directors will declare stock dividends at the rate of 8 per cent a year, two shares of the remaining unsold 200,000 shares to be paid out each quarter for each 100 shares held. It was indicated that the new stock will be listed on the New York stock exchange.

Part of the funds derived from the sale of the new stock will be used to pay for the new plant of the company now being erected at West Division street and North Cicero avenue, according to James F. Raleigh, president. The exchange of the present stock is to be made to stockholders of record April 15 and the rights to stockholders for the additional stock at $11 a share will be given on the same stock of record date. The rights will expire May 8.

Shipments on Contract.

Winterfront stock sold off a point yesterday on the Chicago exchange, in keeping with the rest of the market, which was weak. Bendix corporation advanced 1/2 on the announcement of Vincent Bendix, president, that shipments will be started April 1 on a new contract, which calls for Bendix brakes on 150,000 automobiles. He also said that the Eclipse Machine company, controlled by the Bendix corporation, has collected $1,125,000 in settlement of patent infringements.

The purchase of a controlling interest in the Stromberg Carburator company by Vincent Bendix and group of men closely identified with the automobile industry was announced at South Bend, Ind. It was learned that the Chicago Stromberg plant will be moved to South Bend, where the principal Bendix shops are located.

Auburn Automobile featured the automobile list with a seven point drop. The company announced that its subsidiary, the Locomotive Manufacturing company, is erecting a $500,000 factory in Pennsylvania for the manufacture of aircraft engines.

Morgan Lithograph lost two points. Directors of the company omitted the quarterly dividend of $1.25 a share due on April 1. Earnings for the first half of the fiscal year ended Dec. 31, 1928, were about only half of the dividend requirement for the period, according to P. J. Morgan, chairman of the board.

Will Reduce Capital.

Pacific Western Oil was an exception, advancing a point on the announcement of the acquisition of the Kettelman Oil company properties in the San Joaquin valley, California. Foote Burt was down a fraction on small trading. The Canton company has decided to reduce its capital structure to common stock alone, George E. Handels, president, announced.

He said that this will be accomplished through the retirement of all the outstanding class "A" $2.50 dividend cumulative stock at $5 a share, and the calling of the first mortgage 6 per cent bonds of June 1 at 103 and interest.

Leath & Co., chain furniture store operators in the middle west, advanced fractionally on reports that the annual report to be issued next week will show a substantial increase in earnings. J. R. Thompson closed a fraction higher. The company reported total sales of $1,146,598 for February, against $1,163,835 a year ago. In spite of the apparent decrease in sales figures for 1929 represent an increase of $816 a day over a year ago, as there were 29 days in February of 1928.

RAW SILK.

NEW YORK, March 11.—(AP)—Silk—Raw futures closed firm; sales, 345 bales. March, $4.97; May, $4.99; July, $5.00. Open market quotations, 60 day basis, Shanghai steam extra, $5.00; Canton double extra, A, 14-16, $4.27; Japanese crack double extra, $5.10 per 25.

COTTON CLOTH MART REMAINS UNCHANGED

New York, March 11.—(AP)—Cotton cloth market opened quietly today, with prices firm and unchanged from the close of last week. Print cloths and sheetings were in some demand, but heavy orders were not forthcoming with easier cotton.

Burlap cables were unchanged to a few pence lower on some positions. Both Calcutta and the local market were reported quiet, with little demand.

ANNOUNCE ISSUE OF $65,966,000 IN BONDS FOR S. P. CO.

New York, March 11.—(AP)—The Southern Pacific company today announced the forthcoming issue, subscription to the approval of the Interstate Commerce commission, of $65,966,000 forty-year 4 1/2 per cent bonds with stock purchase warrants.

In view of the growing popularity of stocks as a long term investment, each $1,000 bond will carry a non-detachable warrant entitling the holder to purchase before May 1, 1934, three shares of common stock of the Southern Pacific, plus additional $572,380, 966 out of a total of $394,451,800 authorized common stock.

The bonds will be offered to shareholders of record April 8 to the extent of 17 1/2 per cent of their holding, at 94 and accrued interest. Proceeds of the issue will be used for redemption on June 1, 1929, of $63,316,700 of 4 per cent convertible bonds maturing on that date, and for other corporate purposes.

BRITONS MAY PUSH MERGERS TO GET BUSINESS

BY JOHN STEELE.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

LONDON, March 11.—(AP)—A dramatic organization of British industrial methods was demanded by the committee on industry and trade in issuing a final report tonight. The committee, Sir Austro Chamberlain, president, was appointed by the government in 1924 to "inquire into the conditions and prospects of British industry and commerce, with special reference to the export trade." The report emphasizes that the first step necessary is a "thorough process of reorganization of organization and equipment in order to place the British trade industry in position to again compete successfully in the overseas markets. Industries must take the first measure towards their own regeneration, declares the report.

"At all costs power of access to new capital must be regained," it is asserted, "and for this purpose measures of financial reconstruction, writing down capital and amalgamation of other undertakings are essential."

Cotton Has Rallies

That Fall to Hold

Several good rallies were made yesterday in cotton values, all of which failed to hold as selling pressure increased and was sufficient at the last to carry prices down to around the lowest of the day at the finish. Lower cables from Liverpool than expected brought increased pressure at the start and, with few exceptions, the day's news rather encouraged profit taking.

Spot markets were weaker, with a loss of 20 points in New York to 21.45, while New Orleans dropped 15 points to 20.30, with Houston, 20.45, and Galveston, 20.65, and spot sales, 525 bales, while in New Orleans they were 1,176 bales.

The New York cotton exchange members have voted to hold no sessions on Good Friday and on Saturday following, March 30. Prices followed:

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, March 11.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was quiet today, but the undertone was easier and offerings were more liberal. Near by sugars were available at concessions of 1-3c, or on the basis of 3 1/2c for molasses. Burex showed no interest and no sales were reported. The estimate seemed reasonable for lower prices in raw futures. Final prices showed loss of 16c points. Approximate sales, 50,000 tons. Prices for the day follow:

WESTINGHOUSE, NICKEL CO. EARNINGS CLIMB IMPRESSIVE PEAKS

New York, March 11.—(AP)—The 1928 corporate earnings record became more impressive today with the publication of the annual reports of two industrial leaders, the International Nickel company of Canada, and the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company.

Westinghouse net income set a new high record at $20,814,940 for the twelve months ended Dec. 31, an increase of $2,700,000 over the previous high record. In the 1927 fiscal year, net income was $18,133,441. The fiscal year was changed in 1928 to correspond with the calendar year. Profit was equal to $3.78 a share against $3.59.

International Nickel established a peak time earnings record with net income of $12,399,317, about $1,100,000 under the 1917 record. This compares with $6,064,544 earned by its predecessor company, International Nickel company of Canada, in 1927. Net profits in the December quarter last year alone were $4,094,546. Earnings were equivalent to $1.05 a share on 11,258,208 common shares against $1.30 a share on 1,673,384 shares in 1927.

RESILIO

The Cravat Pre-eminent in Style & Wear

THE man who has a flair for the inevitably correct always chooses a Resilio Cravat. Apart from the superior virtue of its resilient construction, Resilio, for style alone, stands pre-eminent. Resilio is not merely a cravat, but an infinite variety of cravats, translating into distinguished expressions of personal taste, the inspired modes—in color, pattern and weave—that are first revealed in Bond Street, at Deauville, at the Lido, in Palm Beach or at Burlingame, at Yale and at Princeton. Little wonder that those who lead rather than follow the styles for men, find complete personal satisfaction in selecting, from the broad range of Resilio Cravats, those major or minor harmonies in color, those authentic native patterns or sophisticated designs, those familiar finer fabrics or modern textile inspirations, which please them. They find it even more satisfying to know that, however delicate the fabric they select, it will tie absolutely correctly, without danger of being marred by wrinkles, because of the resilient patented construction.

Money Can Buy Lots of Things, but Not a Happy Marriage

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Dining with a charming young couple the other evening, because a young bachelor was present the subject of why anybody could keep on enjoying his single state was broached. In the face of such perfect congeniality as our young host and hostess supplied out of their own delightful companionship, the question was pardonable.

The occasion, it might be mentioned, was the celebration in anniversary of six months' marriage and the purchase of a table that had required some saving for. To an old timer those moments of pride in an additional item of housefurnishing are happy ones. And they are moments as many of us have learned, that are never repeated in times of greater prosperity. Only once in your lifetime are you granted that keen enjoyment and it is when you're young and in love and your bank account is in a tremendous state.

When mothers advocate, as so many of them are reported to me as doing, the substantial suitor in preference to the happy young lover, I wonder if those mothers never knew the fun of getting a new chair, a new table, a new pair of curtains after weeks of saving and planning. But this is aside from the purpose of the dinner conversation directed at the bachelor.

He expressed perfect willingness to abandon his bachelor state if he could find a girl like his hostess—one, to make it brief, who'd be willing to go along with a fellow as she is doing. But his bad luck was running up against girls who wanted the completely furnished apartment and at least one motor to start with.

However, the girls were not blamed for the exacting conditions. Both host and bachelor chum agreed that men were at fault and the fault lay in their vanity, their desire to impress. Having impressed girls, then, with their great earning power, naturally modest living quarters didn't seem to be quite the handsome gesture one would expect from so prosperous a young man. The same girl, they argued, who'd scorn a three room apartment for which furniture might have to be got on time, if offered by one given to bragging of his business prowess, would consider it a gay adventure with a man honest enough to tell his right salary.

And the young hostess said: "Do you remember the night, Bill, you said you had only 90 cents to spend for dinner and we ate a sandwich and sat there planning how we were going to get the money to get married?"

"And we had one swell time that night, didn't we, Hon?" was Bill's reply.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Ten-Year's Difference.

"Dear Miss Blake: My fellow is 25. I'm 18. My family claim he is too old for me. Please advise."

"HELENE."

He is too old for you now. He is of a more serious and settled mind—and you're not ready for that yet.

He's the Favorite.

"Dear Miss Blake: I love a girl who went out with another boy, but gives me more attention than him. What will I do? CHERRY."

Why not be content with the knowledge that you are the favorite?

FARM and GARDEN BY FRANK RIDGWAY

There is a growing interest in the use of paper mulch in gardens. Done tests were made in the middle west and northern states last year. Nine common garden crops were grown under paper mulch at the Michigan station last year. The experiment only has been conducted for one year, but the results generally are favorable.

A report of the test recently sent out from East Lansing, Mich., says paper mulch is likely to be more beneficial on the warm season crops, especially during periods of mid-summer drought. J. B. Edmond says that since the experiment was conducted for only one year on one type of soil, and since the cost of the two treatments were not compared, the figures on yield cannot serve as a basis for either recommending or condemning the practice.

He believes that the profitable use of paper as a mulch on cool season crops is questionable. Its use on warm season crops having a high cash value and grown for early market may be decidedly advantageous. In any case the paper should be used only in an experimental way until the practicability of its use is definitely established, he advises.

The following crops were tested: Lettuce, beets, carrots, cabbage, matatoes, beans, peppers, cucumbers, and sweet corn. The tabulated data show an increase in total yield and earliness of beans, cucumbers and sweet corn, and in total yield of cabbage, tomatoes, and peppers in favor of the paper mulch. Of these crops cucumbers produced the greatest differences, and sweet corn the least.

VARIOUS EVENTS

The Cordon club will give a luncheon today at 12:30 o'clock for the members of the cast of "And So to Bed" company.

The monthly meeting of the Geographic Society of Chicago will be held this evening at Orchestra hall. Dr. Edward L. Stevenson will talk on "Early Discovery, Exploration and Mapping of the New World."

The Juniors of the Chicago Consumptive Aid society will hold a keno party this evening at the Bismarck hotel. The party will be preceded by a business meeting.

The mulch failed to produce any marked influence on total yield of lettuce, beets, and carrots, according to the report.

Orchids Named for Hoovers Feature of Gotham Flower Show

New York, March 11.—Two new orchids, named for the President and Mrs. Hoover, made their debut today at the international flower show which opened in Grand Central palace. The Hoover orchid, a cream colored hybrid with a yellow center shading into crimson, is a small flower, differing from others of its species in color and in the number of blossoms on the seven stemmed plant.

The Lou Henry orchid, named in honor of the first lady of the land, is a large pink bloom, shading to magenta.

J. P. Morgan has the largest number of entries at the show. Mrs. Otto Kahn, Mrs. Marshall Field, and Mrs. Daniel Guggenheim are among prominent entrants who are exhibiting hybrid azaleas, lilacs and shrubs, as well as cut flowers.

Technical Books Needed.

"I should be grateful if some of your readers could give me books on designing frames, furniture, etc. I simply cannot afford to buy the books and I am anxious to have them."

"H. R."

Students who have finished their courses in furniture design and have no further use for the textbooks could help this young woman by passing them on to her. May she not have those you are ready to discard?

"Have you in your files the name of some little girl who is making a post card album and would like a few cards?"

Marriot N. Lee Now Bride of Winterbotham

BY THALIA

The marriage of Miss Marriot N. Lee, daughter of 133 East 51st street, New York City, to Joseph Winterbotham, son of 133 East 51st street, New York City, took place at 12 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the Episcopal church at 133 East 51st street, with the Rev. A. H. Hall officiating.

Miss Lee is the daughter of the late Frederick J. Lee, and a great-granddaughter of Col. Noah Lee of the Civil War, who at the outbreak of the revolutionary war, in conjunction with Col. Ethan Allen, organized the Green Mountain Boys.

Winterbotham is the son of the late Joseph Winterbotham, who owned the firm in Charlotte known as McPerry, now belonging to Mr. Winterbotham's sister, Mrs. John Winterbotham. That was not the only homecoming, however, as the bridegroom came to Chicago from New York City, where he had lived in the residence that since been converted into the club on Walton place. His first wife was the former Miss Eleanor Winterbotham, who now resides in Paris and New York City. He is known to his friends as a great wit and a humorist.

The wedding included the groom's father, Mr. John Winterbotham, and Mrs. John Winterbotham, and the bride's father, Mr. and Mrs. John Winterbotham, and the bride's mother, Miss Rue Winterbotham.

Winnie has decided to accede to Mr. J. C. Leighton's wishes and give Roy up. She feels that in making this sacrifice, she is safeguarding Roy's future.

All night long our little heroine wept her heart out and between sobs she evolved a plan to turn against herself the one man she loves more than anyone or anything on earth.

WELL, I'M ALL CRIED OUT NOW AND I LOOK LIKE THE WRATH OF HEAVEN! I FEEL AS IF SOMETHING INSIDE OF ME IS DEAD!

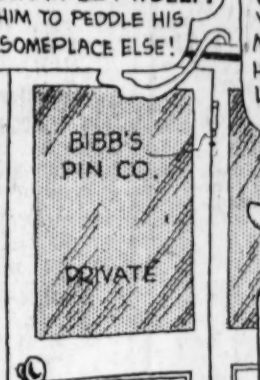

AN, TELL HIM TO GO TAKE A JUMP IN THE LAKE! HE'S GETTING TO BE A PAIN IN MY NECK AND I DON'T MEAN PERHAPS!

I'M SICK AN' TIRED OF ACTIN' AN' TALKIN' LIKE A LADY FOR THAT GUY'S BENEFIT! FROM NOW ON I'M GONNA BE MYSELF! TELL HIM TO PEDdle HIS FISH SOMEPLACE ELSE!

GOOD GRIEF! THAT'S WINNIE'S WAY, BUT I NEVER HEARD HER TALK LIKE THAT BEFORE!

MR. LEIGHTON BEAT IT AN' GEE—Y'GOTT TO OF SEEN THE FUNNY LOOK ON HIS FACE AS HE WENT OUT!

Calls 20 Minutes Sermon Longest for Saving of Souls

A twenty minute sermon is long enough, in the opinion of laity and clergy of the Episcopal church, disclosed in a survey announced by the Diocese of Chicago, Episcopal church magazine, yesterday.

"No souls are saved after twenty minutes," the Rev. Howard R. Brinker, rector of St. Bartholomew's church, wrote. The Rev. William A. Simms, rector of St. Mark's church, declared, "Some sermons are long at five minutes and other short at thirty. It depends upon the preparation and the delivery." He added, "Long winded discourses are indications of inadequate preparation."

"As long as it is interesting to a thoughtful person," was the length of sermon recommended by the Rev. D. A. McGregor of St. Mark's, Glen Ellyn. "The pulpit is not in competition with the vaudeville stage and does not exist to 'interest' the tired business man."

Twenty minutes today is worth six minutes of other times, stated T. T. Lyman, layman, while another lay member, Mrs. Charles Spencer Williams, 1517 North Dearborn parkway, declared that twenty minutes is not long enough.

Others favoring the twenty minute sermon are Dr. Frederick C. Grant, president of Western Theological seminary, Judge Jesse Holdom of the Superior court, the Rev. Herbert W. Prince of Lake Forest, and Charles H. Tru.

Members of D.A.R. Portray Leading Women of Illinois

Members of Kaskaskia chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, yesterday portrayed notable women of Illinois in a pageant at the Chicago Historical society. A story of the Indian girl, Archangel Gullmette, read by Mrs. Hobart P. Young, Winnetka, regent of the chapter, began the list of leading Illinois women down the years. The list included the late Mrs. Potter Palmer, social leader and head of the women's board at the World's Fair of 1893, and Mrs. Ella Flag Young, former superintendent of Chicago's public schools. Among those taking part in the pageant were Mrs. C. Winslow Zienke, Miss Elaine Blackburn, Mrs. Alexander Hoffman, and Mrs. Hubert Allen. Caroline McVane of the historical society wrote the play, which was staged by Mrs. George L. Cragg.

Will Design Scenes.

Molnar Gyula of Elgin, Ill., is to design the stage settings for the presentation of "Hi-Jack," 31st annual production of the Harefoot club of the University of Wisconsin on the afternoon and evening of April 17 at the Elgin Street theater.

Scientific Frankness—and Woman's Oldest Hygienic Problem

Doctors everywhere now advise this new kind of sanitary protection for better health and greater comfort.

WOMEN who have had the advantage of medical advice already realize the importance of the new Kotex. They find a new sense of freedom, a refreshing composure and ease from this improved sanitary protection. And, at the new low price, they find this method actually cheaper than home-made cheesecloth and cotton substitutes.

The amazing absorbency of Kotex filler (Cellulose absorbent wadding) provides assurance as well as physical comfort. It is actually 5 times more absorbent than cotton. Ease of disposability means much, not only in emergency situations, but at all times. Kotex is disposed of like tissue, as directions in each box explain. And there are certain new perfections which distinguish this as the superior sanitary napkin.

Kotex deodorizes safely, instantly. A process has been perfected whereby each pad deodorizes completely and safely. This formula is considered so important that it has been patented by the Kotex Company. It is, of course, to be found in no other sanitary pad.

No evidence of sanitary protection because corners of the pad are rounded and tapered, all conspicuous bulkiness has been eliminated. Snug, secure fit is assured.

Cellulose absorbent wadding comes in layers, which can be adjusted to one's individual need. That is a unique advantage which women always find comforting. Then, too, there is an easy softness about both gauze and filler today. Manufacturing refinements keep adding to your comfort. Buy a box of Kotex today. It is 45c for a box of 12 at any drug, dry goods or department store; also obtainable through vending cabinets in restaurants by West Disinfecting Co.

Use Super-size Kotex Formerly 90c—Now 65c

Super-size Kotex differs from Regular Kotex only in giving the extra protection of additional layers of Cellulose absorbent wadding. The advantages in using it in connection with the Regular are thus obvious. Disposable the same way. Doctors and nurses consider it indispensable where extra protection is needed. At the new low price, you can easily afford to buy one box of Super-size to every three of Kotex Regular. Its extra layers of filler mean much in added comfort and security.

J. Hartley Manners Leaves British Cash to Remember War

New York, March 11.—(U.P.)—The bulk of the estate of J. Hartley Manners, playwright who wrote "Peg of My Heart," as well as all royalties from his books and plays, were left to his widow, Mrs. Laurette Taylor Manners, his will filed today disclosed.

An unusual provision of the will was a bequest that $100 be paid annually for six years to the Royal General Theatrical Guild of England, provided that organization stages two of Manners' plays, "All Clear" and "God of My Faith," at its annual benefit, usually given at the Drury Lane theater, London. The plays are to be staged alternately during the six years, each play to be given three times.

The will disclosed that the playwright's reason for the unusual bequest was his "desire that these plays be performed during these years so that the remembrance of the atrocities committed against the English people by the Germans might be kept alive."

Sets of the playwright's works, valued at $20 each, were bequeathed to Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Oxford, and Cambridge universities. Marguerite and Dwight Taylor, stepchildren, were left $1,000 each and at the death of Mrs. Manners they were to receive the income from the residue and royalties until they reach the age of 30 years, when the principal is to be divided between them after $5,000 is given to the Actors' Fund of America and an additional $500 pounds sterling is given to the Royal General Theatrical guild of England.

Mother Tells How to Turn a House Into a Real Home

Mrs. Becons has prepared two booklets, one on "Prayers and Graces for Children" and another called "Books to Be Read to the Children or by Them," which will be sent free on receipt of stamped, self-addressed envelopes.

"Some time last fall you had a Sunday article on 'Children and Their Rights in the Home.' I had thought at that time I would write you and tell of the joy I have reaped from my policies.

"My youngest is 16 and the oldest 33, so I feel I have time to judge the results, so I pass it on to younger mothers. Since the time when they began making their first friends I have said to them, 'Now, this is your home just the same as it is mine—and you are free at any time to turn your friends or ask them to play to a meal and take just whatever the family may have. And since this is your home the same as mine and you have the pleasures it offers you must be interested in making it attractive.'"

"So they were never paid for any turn down, such as mowing the yard or sweeping the walks or porches, or whatever came up. That was their contribution to the home.

"I have always felt that a home was vastly more than a house, so that is what I have endeavored to make—a home. So time and time without number have the younger folks gathered when there was nothing else to do. Lovely Sunday afternoons after the basketball games or picture shows—after the bobbed party or skating. Up came the rug for dancing—or out to make candy or popcorn—or the tables out for cards—whatever happened to be their fancy.

"I'll admit sometimes, when the floors were freshly polished or the linoleum freshly mopped, it was hard not to object, but I felt that what a polished floor or a clean linoleum do for the heart. So now my reward and satisfaction have come. I meet these young people, now grown, and they always say, 'Oh, the good times we always had at your house—you always were so welcome.'"

"My daughter writes back of a home to which she is often invited and says, 'O mother, it is so much fun to go to Helen's. It's a home just like ours always was, where the young people gather, and Helen's mother is like you—always so sweet and gracious to all who come—it makes me think of home.'"

"And last fall my grown son, who has recently broken up his home and gone out into the world to seek his fortune—a last but by no means a compliment—one day when we were having one of our farewell visits said, 'Mother, you have been a wonderful mother to us. You have given us such a happy home. I wish I could know I could bring my friends and they would always receive a hearty welcome. And a home in which there was nothing too good to be used. I am carrying away with me a memory of a wonderful home and a wonderful mother.'"

"I ask you, Mrs. Becons—what greater joy can any mother ask? So I beg of the young mothers to forget the polished floors and the clean linoleum and build warm memories of a childhood home that will last long after the home and its furnishings have passed.

Sincerely,
"A Satisfied Mother."

Toothbrush Is a Handy Little Health Utensil

Though there may be a lack of unanimity in opinion on the actual cause of pyorrhea, there is perfect agreement on the fact that persons who maintain the strictest rules about keeping the mouth clean are less subject to pyorrhea or dental troubles than those who are careless about the hygienic operation.

Everybody who has owned one of those watchful parents usually known as mothers knows that teeth should be brushed after every meal. But not every child of every mamma does what is known as the toothbrush should be impressed on young minds as the health edged tool of defense. The health of the gums requires that the circulation in them be constantly stimulated, a proceeding that was well taken care of in the old days when food-stuffs were not refined out of their usefulness as both teeth cleansers and gum stimulants, as is their modern character.

When the toothbrush is taken in hand, then work it in circular movements, beginning at the top of the upper gums and work to the base of the lower ones. Press with sufficient strength upon the brush to stimulate circulation in the gums.

It is common practice now, in our best modern hygiene circles, to exhibit two brushes kept in alternate use, so that each has time to be perfectly dried out before using again. But our interest today was chiefly to impress the importance of the gum stimulation with the handy little implement we have already named.

Felt Cheap

I received passes for a show and in given several friends to go with me. When we got within sight of the theater we saw a crowd of four and a block and a half long waiting to get in. More people kept coming and laughing when they saw the crowd. We could not have gotten in that night.

Some one suggested that we go to another show, which we did. I knew I did not have enough money with me to buy tickets, and had to let some one else pay for them.

Although we all laughed, felt cheap after having invited my friends, and then having to let them pay for their tickets and mine, too. A. S.

Reversible Coats Are Practical and Chic

BY LOLITA.

NEW YORK.—(Special Correspondence.)—"O, you double faced jacket!"

When we address one of our trusted garments in this wise, do we mean to say that it has betrayed us? Perhaps the thought! Far from insulting our jacket, we have assured it, that it has performed everything which the most lofty and most exacting friendship might demand.

What does one mean by this? Simply that the ensemble which takes as its basis a printed frock is today exalted by the accompaniment of a jacket which, made in monotonous material, is lined with the fabric of the gown and is made so that it will look equally well when worn on either side. It will readily seen that such double faced behavior is a distinct gain to a limited wardrobe. Few of us can afford enough changes in sports costumes to make a really dazzling sojourn at a resort. Therefore, this jacket offers an obvious solution to the need of variety.

And, of course, such versatility of use need not be confined to the jacket. Why should not the long coat be equally reversible? That it can benefit by this treatment is shown by the wrap in today's delightful street-report ensemble of navy blue wool crepe and printed silk crepe, for the detail that you see in the monotone surface is repeated in that of the crepe. The only difference is that when worn on the printed side the same bandings of blue cloth are apparent. Any effect of clumsiness from the projecting band on the cuff is overcome by the fact that it may be detached and buttoned on either side.

The skirt with its fitted yoke top masses its fullness in front in a way that gives an impression of added length and do not forget that the length of skirt is absolutely demanded by the spring mode.

This ensemble is completed by a tucked turban of navy tulle and its cords combining navy suede and its color. Stockings sponsor one of the new skin tones.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Irish Plum Cake.

Perhaps an Irish plum cake is no different from an English plum cake, which in the lowest terms is a pound cake with currants and raisins—yellow background for brown and close fruit polka dots.

The following recipe, taken from a book purchased in Dublin many years ago, has been tested more than once, and it has been my almost annual custom to recommend it as a St. Patrick's day cake. There is time now to try it at least once before preparation for that day are made, and as it keeps fairly well, a success may be held till then. And if you want a real English afternoon tea, or Irish evening, thin slices of a cake like this will set the table.

One-half cup butter, one cup sugar, three eggs, one scant half cup of milk, about two cups of flour, one teaspoon baking powder, one teaspoon mixed spices [these spoil the yellow and the cake gets wrapped candy, which has currants, one cup unbleached suet, two cups candied peel. [Unless you grind the peel or cut it fine you cannot measure it by tablespoons, and the English and Irish recipes always give the weight. But more or less, no enormous difference, so you can guess at it.]

Put these ingredients together as you would any cup cake, or in the order given, with thorough creaming of the butter first, gradually working in the sugar, gradually working in the flour, etc. A little of the flour should be rubbed into the fruit, and a little more or a less may be used, as the candied cake makes when the batter is right, and others have to learn the looks and feel. Flour measurements are always near, not exact. The more flour used, the denser the cake will be.

"Now," he returned, with an implied grin, "it's the last." M. H. A.

Bright Sayings of the Children

One day as I was walking past a grocery I met Buddy, a neighbor's child, who was coming out of the store. He was carrying an attractive piece of candy, which he had won in a draw. Very proudly he exhibited it to me.

"Well, well!" I exclaimed, trying to show the proper interest, "is that the first piece you ever won?"

"New," he returned, with an implied grin, "it's the last." M. H. A.
